FLOOD CONTROL LAWS ASSURED BY LARGE VOTE

House Will Follow Lead of Senate to Spoil Chance of President's Veto
STARTS PRECEDENT
Other Parts of Country Expected to Follow Mississippi Valley's Stand

Washington—Flood control legislation is assured. The House will follow the lead of the Senate and the overwhelming vote in each case will have precluded the possibility of a presidential veto.

The victory is one for national control of flood problems and a precedent is established which will unquestionably be followed in other parts of the country besides the Mississippi valley.

The administration accepts the situation as an expression of the sentiment of congress but the question of the effect of the flood control appropriations on tax reduction remains to be settled.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE
Back of the large vote for flood control and also the quick action taken is the substantial feeling developed in recent weeks that the appropriations will give the Mississippi valley states a new lease of life and that the amounts spent in construction not only will help the region but provide an economic stimulus of great value.

When one section of the United States is affected by floods, the reaction is felt by all kinds of industries and merchandising agencies doing business in that region. As a consequence members of congress have felt that the flood damage for which no single state was responsible should be expeditiously repaired by the federal government.

To appropriate the states as at first suggested by President Coolidge was believed to be sound theory, even by many who voted for federal appropriations for the whole amount but their votes were largely due to the feeling that to leave it to the states meant endless delay and that it was absolutely essential to have confidence in the affected regions by beginning work at once.

SPEED SURPRISING
The speed with which the senate acted was surprising but by no means an accident. The plan was talked over by the leaders several days ago and as pointed out in those dispatches the knowledge that an overwhelming number in both parties wanted the bill passed brought about favorable consideration of the plan to eliminate debate and act. Incidentally there was criticism of the senate as an excessively conversational and debating body has taken root and while it can not be expected that matters on which serious differences of opinion exist will be hastened to a vote any more in the future than in the past, there is a disposition to move forward without delay on nonpartisan matters.

Much of the credit for the speed of the flood bill through the senate is due to the minority leader, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who has managed on more than one occasion to get the republicans to vote harmoniously with him. The flood control legislation affected mostly Democratic states but the republicans voted solidly with the Democrats just the same—for the industries of the Republican states are in many ways as much affected by the buying power of the states in the flood area as are the residents.

Democrats Form Stiff Opposition To Tax Cut

Washington—(AP)—Next week's senate committee-room fight over tax reduction took on added significance Friday with publication of the treasury's latest estimate of the probable surplus next fiscal year and the development that the Democrats are preparing to maintain stiff opposition to the administration's plans for a cut below its original $225,000,000 recommendation.

MUST REDUCE CUT
Speaking in Chicago Thursday night, Under-Secretary Mills of the treasury said that because the department had made no allowances for increased appropriations due to new legislation its first estimate of $252,000,000 for the indicated 1929 surplus had been cut $27,000,000. Moreover, he added, and the new $215,000,000 figure did not take into account probable additional expenditures for flood and farm relief.

For this reason, Mills asserted, the original recommendation of the treasury for a $225,000,000 tax cut would have to be reduced and he outlined the following revised program which the department is prepared to submit next Tuesday before the senate finance committee when that body meets behind closed doors to consider the $230,000,000 reduction bill passed by the house.

A reduction of the corporation income tax, some additional measure of relief to the smaller corporations, a modified revision of the income tax rates applicable to the middle brackets and the repeal of the federal estate tax.

NO SMOOTH SAILING
The revised program, looking to the scaling down of the proposed tax cut to $200,000,000 or less, is not going to have very smooth sailing in the senate committee, in the opinion of the Democratic members, even though the Republican independents who hold the balance of power, are in favor of applying the surplus to reducing the deficit.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, who has expressed the opinion that a cut of three or four hundred million dollars was possible, declared Thursday that he was astonished in view of reports that the March 15 tax returns appeared to show an increase over the last year, at the treasury efforts to guard against a reduction of more than $200,000,000.

TREASURY INCONSISTENT
He held the treasury had been inconsistent in indicating that the proposed

EXPECT APPROVAL OF ENGLISH FLAPPER BILL
London—(AP)—Having gained a second reading by an overwhelming majority, the "flapper vote" bill Friday was considered likely to add 5,000,000 women between the ages of 21 and 30 to the electorate next May. Sir William Lyon Mackenzie-Kinross, home secretary, explaining the bill in the house of commons said that women voters would then be in the majority of about 2,000,000.

Because of this the diehards raised the specter of petticoat government. Brigadier General Sir George Cockburn, speaking opposition to the measure, which gives women the vote at the age of 21 instead of 30 as at present said the bill failed to follow the constitutional practice of accompanying an extension of the franchise with a measure for redistribution of representation.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin invited the house to fall in line with Canada, Australia and the United States, "to mention only the English speaking countries in which men and women are enfranchised on equal terms."

HANG TWO YOUTHS FOR MURDER OF OLD HERMIT
Canon City, Col.—(AP)—Arthur Osborne and Ray Noakes were hanged at the Colorado state penitentiary Friday morning for the slaying of Fred Selack, aged hermit of Grand Lake. Osborne and Noakes, cousins, 23 and 24 years old, respectively, were convicted of first degree murder following the slaying of Selack in July, 1926. Evidence was introduced at their trial to show that Selack and Osborne's father had quarreled over a fence shortly before the aged recluse was found, hanged to a tree.

Designer Of World Record Plane Visiting In Appleton

Everyone in Appleton interested in aviation was elated today when Eddie Stinson and Captain George Haldeman shattered the world record for sustained flight by keeping their Stinson monoplane in the air longer than the former world record of 32 hours and 23 minutes.

A man here in Appleton, however, was probably more elated than anyone else except the flyers themselves. He is Philip Shumway. He designed and built the ship.

Gathered about the lobby of the Hotel Northern Thursday night, a group of sleepy-eyed men sat around and talked aviation. Occasionally the telephone rang and all of them were instantly alert. It was the Associated Press at

MORE BOMBING THREATS PEP CHICAGO LIFE

Shooting, Burning, Renewed Pleas for Federal Help as Primary Approaches

Chicago—(AP)—More threats of bombings, more bullets, more pleas for federal protection at the April 10 primary polls peppered politics in Chicago Friday.

United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, appointee of Senator Deneen was warned by an anonymous telephone call that he had been marked for a bomb. A report that a political meeting of Circuit Judge Swanson was to be broken up by bombs spread alarm and they blew up of its own momentum, the meeting being held without incident.

A municipal councilman who has been a ward worker for the anti-Deneen forces headed by Mayor Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe was shot and seriously wounded by one of a dozen federal agents who raided a saloon at State-st. near 67th.

USE TORCH NOW
The torch was added to the Chicago killer's repertoire when a man whose name is believed to have been Marchese was thrown down and then burned after gasoline had been poured over the body. A card in the man's purse carried the name Paul Marchese. That is the family name of the widow of Diamond Joe Esposito, Deneen worker slain nine days ago.

From Washington came word that Attorney General Sargent had received the request of United States Marshal Palmer Anderson for authority to deputize additional marshals primary election day and that he had agreed to study the facts before making a decision.

The slaying of Marchese and the shooting of William Beatty, the balliff were not given any direct connection with the troubled political situation created by the conflict between the Deneen and Thompson-Crowe factions.

ENTERED INSANITY PLEA
Remus killed his wife, Imogene, as she sat in a car through a Cincinnati park the morning of Oct. 6, 1927. He surrendered immediately and entered a plea of "temporary maniacal insanity."

Remus, an attorney, acted as one of his own defense counsel during his trial for murder. He testified he had been tortured by his wife's alleged insanity, which he said was caused by a "flapper" who had been seducing her.

After a month of a jury returned a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity," 20 minutes after it had been given the case.

The Hamilton co. probate court, however, adjudged him insane and committed him to the hospital. Remus' attorneys began another fight to secure his freedom, filing the habeas corpus action on the ground his commitment papers were faulty.

CAUSES JULY SCANDAL
The acquittal of Remus produced a scandal in Cincinnati when the jurors were put in the case, ten men and two women, in collateral matters after the trial. It was brought out that the jury list upon the acquittal upon the sole ground of insanity as the best that could be done for Remus after the president judge ruled that a verdict of guilty to the charge could not be returned.

The court's decision that Remus was sane was not unanimous. Presiding Judge Phil Crowe and Judge Kent Hughes concurred in the decision while Judge Charles Justice voted against it. Prosecutor Botkin has two days in which to sign or refuse to sign the journal entry which would free Remus.

CALLAHAN DENIES HIS SLATE IS HAND-PICKED
Green Bay—(AP)—John P. Callahan, self-styled polymath of the Democratic party in Wisconsin because of his personal expenditures to pay the running expenses of the party in the state, Thursday denied that the opposition to his slate of candidates delegates to the national convention in Houston arose from the desire of "a prominent Ninth district Democrat" to obtain the national committee appointment which Callahan now holds.

Callahan, speaking without the sanction of the Brown-Crowe committee, which was instrumental in selecting a slate of delegates to oppose the slate supported by himself, denied that he had "hand picked" the slate of candidates which he heads.

"Charges which have been hurled at me as a 'boss' ruler are entirely without foundation," Callahan asserted. He declared that the entire delegate membership of his slate was pledged to vote unanimously for Alfred Smith as its preference.

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—Earl Woodcock, of Superior, Wis., was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth Thursday by Judge Charles A. Dewey, in United States District court, following a plea of guilty to the charge of robbing a postal sub-station in Council Bluffs, Iowa on Feb. 8. About $65 and a watch were obtained. Woodcock also admitted volubly of a Council Bluffs drug store and a grocery store in Omaha.

SET NEW ENDURANCE RECORD

In the air for 52 hours and 35 minutes, George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson completed a new world's endurance record for airplane flights when they landed near Jacksonville Beach, Fla., at 1:12 Eastern Standard time this afternoon. The men had been aloft since Wednesday morning to break by one hour, 12 minutes and 40 seconds the mark made Aug. 2, 1927, by John Ristetz and Cornelius Edzard, German flyers, in the Junkers monoplane, Europe. Above is the Stinson plane which set the mark and its pilots, Eddie Stinson, left, and George Haldeman. The plane owned by North American Airways Co. is a duplicate of the record-breaking ship.

WORK ASSAILED AS COWARD BY SENATOR

Decries Treatment by Interior Secretary of Veteran Soldier

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Work was assailed as a "coward" in the senate Friday by Senator Canaway, Democrat of Arkansas, for what the Arkansas described as treatment accorded by Mr. Work recently to Col. Clyde P. Estes of the staff of Gov. Moody of Texas.

"I will waive any senatorial privileges," Canaway declared, "if I have any, if the secretary of the interior wants to answer me anywhere or any time."

Senator Canaway said that Col. Estes, a wounded World war veteran, had come to Washington representing Col. Governor Moody and the chamber of commerce of Texas in behalf of a national park for Arkansas.

CALLED GUEST LIAR
"He did not offer this man whose body bears many wounds, a seat," the Arkansas said. "He told Col. Estes he knew what he had come for and that he knew all about Texas and Arkansas that he cared to know. He called Col. Estes a liar and ordered him out of his room. Estes was never permitted to say what his business was."

"The transaction was disgraceful and cowardly," he said. "I think Col. Estes in his office which he would not have said in the corridor outside of anywhere else."

"He took the protection of his office to talk this way against a war hero," he said. "I think Col. Estes in his office which he would not have said in the corridor outside of anywhere else."

"In the name of the American people I protest. No one but a coward would do what Secretary Work did."

POWER COMPANY FILES PLEA TO ABANDON CAR SERVICE
A request for a hearing to remove street car tracks between Kaukauna and Neenah will be filed today, according to a Milwaukee dispatch, by the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company.

That the request to the Wisconsin railroad commission would be filed, was learned when Menasha one official sought to get definite word from the power company before proceeding with plans for the new Tanager bridge.

RACINE—(AP)—Harley Dock, 22, of Port Jervis, Ill., reported to the sheriff early Friday that two men stopped his car on Highway 41, 10 miles north of Racine Thursday night, robbed him of $25 and then fled.

While he was driving alone, at about 11:30, the men stepped out of the road, Dock said, one of them holding a gun. After taking his money and car, they drove toward Milwaukee he said.

Set Record For Staying Above Earth

Stinson, Haldeman Aloft 53 Hours to Break World's Endurance Flight Mark

Jacksonville Beach, Fla.—(AP)—George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson set a new world's record airplane endurance flight today of 53 hours and 35 minutes, 41 seconds.

They landed at 1:12 p. m. Eastern standard time, after breaking by an hour and 12 minutes and 40 seconds the German mark made last August.

The flyers landed a mile from where they took off and traveled south to the beach. They left Wednesday morning, after a breakfast of 11 eggs, 10 minutes and 40 seconds the German mark made last August.

Stinson, a manufacturer of cars, placed a record of 32 hours and 23 minutes in the Atlantic Ocean last month in an airplane named Europe.

LITTLE HOPE THAT FLYERS WILL START

Gale Sweeping Iceland Again Postpones Flight of Germans

Dublin—(AP)—A gale sweeping westward from the Atlantic Friday delayed German flyers from leaving for New York.

Sudden wind at Baldonnel airport after the rain of Thursday was enough to make it impossible for the flyers to make a run from its long runway.

MAY BE SEVERAL DAYS
With no hope of immediate improvement in weather conditions forecasters here were probably that the German flyers would not start for several days.

Baron Von Huenfeldt went to Dublin and bought himself a fresh coat of paint for his plane, which he had not expected to stay in the neighborhood so long but he left the next morning after every effort to reach America in fresh time.

While members of the Irish Free State air force, Captain Joseph Koch, a pilot who will accompany this flight, is not shared by all. A member of the Irish air force said he felt the flyers were doomed and took his small plane to the airport to see them off.

The flyers, who are already in the air, are expected to reach New York in about 10 days.

EXPECT FALL TESTIMONY TO AID OIL HEAD

Might Show Sinclair Had Nothing to Do With Negotiations to Lease Dome

CONTINUE EXAMINATION
Take Former Interior Secretary's Testimony at Texas Home Because of Illness

El Paso, Tex.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair accepted the lease of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve with reluctance, after a long and arduous fight, said Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, in giving his deposition to be used in the oil magnate's trial in Washington next week on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government.

"There is your lease, Mr. Secretary," Fall said. "I am doing it for you."

El Paso, Tex.—(AP)—Hoping to show that Harry F. Sinclair personally had nothing to do with the actual negotiations that led up to the leasing to him of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve by Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, counsel for Sinclair Friday expected to continue the examination of the former cabinet member in the deposition they are taking to be used in Sinclair's trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Sinclair, who goes on trial in the District of Columbia supreme court next Wednesday, secured an order from Justice Jennings Bailey to take Fall's deposition. The permission was granted because Fall's illness prevented him coming to Washington for trial. He was given an indefinite continuance and a separate trial was ordered for Sinclair.

Fall, anxious to get his story before the court, underwent two sessions of questioning Thursday.

"BUSINESS TRANSACTION"
Sinclair's attorney had to do with the deposition of the government lawyer in 1920 of leasing oil lands to individuals and was expected to lead up to the leasing of Teapot Dome, which Mrs. Fall said her husband would say was done in ordinary course of business and conducted by the interior department.

The conduct of these negotiations, Fall was expected to testify, was carried on by his subordinates in his department and he would say, Mrs. Fall said, that the $250,000 in Liberty bonds received from Sinclair were for sale of the land and not an outright lease of the land.

Fall's testimony was expected to show that as far as he knew Sinclair himself did not carry on the negotiations with the Teapot lease and that Fall did not know the details of the sale of the land or the details of the leaseholdings. Fall was expected to testify, was carried on by his son-in-law, M. T. Everhart, of Pueblo, Colo., who was manager of the Tres Ritos Co.

Everhart, however, testified before the senate oil investigation committee that he went to Washington to see Fall about the sale of the third interest to Sinclair and found all details completed.

ANSWERS EAGERLY
The examination of the 61-year old invalid was held in the privacy of his spacious library in the large brick home which overlooks in the distance the Mexican desert south of the border. Promoted up in a chair in the lounge that sits high on a hill, Fall answered the questions asked him by Albert B. Wright, Sinclair's counsel.

BANDIT ROBS SUPERIOR TICKET AGENT OF $400
Superior—(AP)—A masked bandit, held up William Stark, agent in the Omaha railroad ticket office here this morning and escaped with $400.

The bandit knocked on the rear door of Stark's home and when he opened it showed a pistol at him and commanded him to open the safe. While Stark was doing this the customer outside the window rapped on it to gain the agent's attention. Stark then ran to the door and found the bandit and the money. The money was turned over the $400. Stark was then released.

The bandit slipped out through a rear door and was nowhere in sight when Stark ran to give the alarm. Police were called but were unable to find him. Stark said he was about 22 years old and wore no overcoat.

CONGREGATION GOES TO SERVICES IN OVERALLS
Henderson, Iowa—(AP)—There is to be no "dress parade" in the Christian church of Henderson in the future. At least the pastor, the Rev. G. D. Noland, and a number of his lay followers will not be a part of it. The pastor and several men in his congregation will next Sunday and Sunday to follow appear in overalls.

"This is not to be a show," the pastor explained, "I merely want this working people to know that my church and I are one of them."

LITTLE SPECULATORS HAVE BIGGEST PART IN MARKET RAMPAGE

General Motors Stock Increase Totals More Than Total Value of U. S. Steel

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The wild orgy of trading in the stock market recently that has boomed values of certain issues far beyond all previous limits comprises the most interesting, the least understood and probably the most vitally important news story of today. In the following article for the Appleton Post-Crescent, Richard Spillane, noted financial writer, describes the extent to which the trading has gone.)

BY RICHARD SPILLANE
Copyright, 1928.

New York. — Some things in connection with the present stock market are enough to stagger the imagination. There have been an advance in the appraised value of some of the leading issues beyond anything in the history of modern speculation.

Take General Motors, for example. Its gain from lowest to highest within the present year has been 63 points. As it has 17,400,000 shares of common stock outstanding that would mean, in market appraisement, an increase in value of $1,200,000,000.

As the United States Steel Corporation, once the most gigantic of all corporations, has only 7,116,235 shares outstanding and sells around 148, it would appear that the increase in market value alone of General Motors in the present year is greater than the market value of the total stock issued of United States Steel.

Or, to measure the enhancement in value of General Motors by another yardstick, consider the grain crop—that of wheat, for example. At the price of wheat today, the growers of that great essential to our life will get about $700,000,000 for their crop, or a little more than half of the rise in value of General Motors in three months.

Consider cotton. The crop approximates 13,000,000 bales. The average price to the grower has been less than 15 cents per pound—$90 a bale. The increase in market value of General Motors in three months is more than that of the cotton growers in the south will get for the yield of their crops.

Then consider the Radio Corporation of America. It pays no dividend on the common stock. This stock sold last year at 1 1/2. It has risen to 168. CRASHES GAIN IN HISTORY. A score of illustrations of remarkable gains in the last three or six months might be given. Nothing comparable to such increase in market value of so many various issues has been seen in peace time in this nation.

What is the explanation? How is it that stock boomed when business obviously is not holding good and an unusually large unemployment is reported east and west? Where does all the buying come from? How much of it is professional and how much comes from the small fry?

No one has the means or the qualification, so far as we know, for getting accurate figures as to the percentage of stock exchange business that is professional, and what proportion is what is called public. But the total of the unprofessional is colossal. Less than 15 years ago the amount of business that came from outside of New York was very small. Today some of the so-called wire houses have from 20 to 40 branch offices. The nation is honey-combed with branch offices of New York brokerage establishments.

AN ORDER A MINUTE. One establishment has a special or private wire to Havana. Orders from Europe received by cable by various banks average one a minute for every minute from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. These orders do not deal wholly with stocks and with bonds, with exchange, and various other departments of finance. Some brokerage houses have as many as twenty branches within the city of New York.

There is nothing in financial history to approximate the growth in stock exchange trading. The "play" in the market has become a national mania. If you are of Wall Street, the barber who shaves you is liable to ask what you think of this or that stock. He will take a tip on a stock more gratefully than a money tip.

A doctor of prominence puts in most of his time between 10 and 2 in a broker's office and his patrons must visit him before 9 or after 5, although without his ministrations.

Unnumbered women are in the market. They seem to take their losses with better grace than do the men.

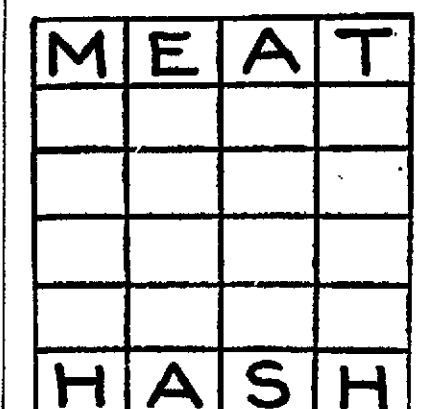

STARTED DURING WAR. Explanations are various as the genesis and growth of this "stock" mania. One of the best is that the notation of the Liberty loan created a great army of investors. It is unquestionably true that before the World War, Stock Exchange trading was almost wholly professional. Millions of persons bought Liberty bonds who never before owned a security. Now uncounted tens of thousands of them have stock in the gas or power or light companies from which they get service. Nearly all the railroads of size sell their stock in small or large portions to their employees on the installment basis. Many of the oil, steel and motor companies sell their stock to their workers at a price below the market appraisement and on the "easy payment" plan.

The business in "odd lots" of the Stock Exchange—"odd lots" meaning less than 100 shares—is immense. In fact the "odd lot" people are the most influential in Stock Exchange circles. In effect they dominate its management.

ARMY OF SPECULATORS. Perhaps the best explanation of the tremendous increase in Stock Exchange business in the foregoing lies in the fact that the Stock Exchanges have gone to the people instead of making the people come to Wall Street. It

LETTER GOLF

NOT SO DIFFERENT! It's not such a far cry after all from MEAT to HASH. At least not in letter golf for the change can be made in five jumps. Perhaps you can beat the solution on page 11.

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change Cow to Hen, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2—You can change only one letter of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
3—You must have a complete word at a time.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

KAUKAUNA MAN BUYS LITTLE CHUTE BRIDGE

The old turntable bridge across the Fox river canal at Little Chute, discarded to make way for the new bascule type bridge now under construction, was sold at public auction Wednesday afternoon to A. Golden, Kaukauna, for $125. A. G. Brustwitz county highway commissioner, conducted the sale under instructions from the county highway committee. Two other bidders, the Appleton Wrecking company and B. Golden of Menasha, submitted proposals.

11 IN CLASS TO BE CONFIRMED NEXT SUNDAY

Eleven boys and girls of St. John Evangelical church will be confirmed at the regular service Sunday morning by Rev. W. R. Wetzel. Confirmands are Orville Griess, Gilbert Myse, Lester Laumann, Roland Winter, Lorraine Krause, Lily Holter, Thelma Polzin, Anna Sieg, Marjorie Rasmussen, Evelyn Whysof, Bernice Limpert.

also is a fact that if the American people have become an army of investors there has, at the same time, been created a vast army of speculators.

One of the anomalies of the whole situation is the disappearance of great figures in the market. There was a time when Gould was a mighty operator. James R. Keene once was a great force. Harry Corbett, John W. Gates, Jesse Livermore and others, ruled or were supposed to rule at times.

Now there is no one who bulks above the crowd. The reason is that the market is too big for one man. The banks rule. They have a power to dominate or come to dominating, greater than generally known. They control the movement of various groups of stocks they will accept as security for loans and they change the proportions in accordance with their judgment or their desires. If they don't like the motor outlook, motor stocks are likely to decline, for brokers will demand larger margins from speculators in motors. If they are partial to the rails, there is likely to be "good" buying of the rails.

CAUGHT BY RADIO. We hear of Mr. Michael Meelan as a big figure in the remarkable rise in Radio. Mr. Meelan is an able citizen and has had wide experience in Wall Street, but there is greater force back of the notes in Radio. As a matter of fact a man who at one time was a mighty figure in the stock market—such a force that he engaged in a battle to the finish with Harriman when Harriman was at the height of his power and didn't come off second best—is understood to have been caught heavily short of Radio.

Ultimate naturally and somewhat overbearing, it is understood that when he found the stock being run up on him he threw caution to the wind and increased his short commitments. He appears to be trapped.

FYI ON CONSERVATIVES. Wall Street is heart and soul for Mr. Coolidge to succeed himself. It always is "for" a conservative. It always is for the established order. It always is against change. It may, in part, vote for a Democrat, but it has found a Republican executive more to its liking than a Democrat and it hopes for the best in regards to the coming national election.

Some things that stand out as plainly as a lighthouse are not seen or understood by the great mass of people in relation to Wall Street and to Stock Exchange prices. One is that the old grading of a stock on the basis of a 6 per cent basis as a par basis of appraisement is past and gone. Money rates are lower. The rating now is closer to 3 1/2 per cent. It may go lower—probably will. Sound stocks, sound bonds, yielding more than 5 1/2 per cent now command par or a premium.

FEW "BIG KILLINGS". It is a singular fact that in all the riot of speculation that has been under way month after month, with all the skyrocketing of prices there has been little or nothing that has come out about anyone making a great "killing." This is all the more surprising because Wall Street is like a giant sewing circle for gossip and, usually, as extravagant in its statements.

It is obvious that the handling of buying and selling orders on commission on the exchange as distinguished from personal trading has become immensely profitable these 4,000,000-share days. This is reflected in the manner the price of "seats" on the exchange has been jumping daily toward the half million dollar mark.

There never has been a stock market like the present one, and a "bear" might be excused for praying there never will be another.

But who would listen or be influenced by the prayer of a Bear?

COUNTY "OVER TOP" IN MEMBER CAMPAIGN

County Council Discusses Plans for Joint Meeting of Legion Posts

Members of Outagamie county council of the American legion met Thursday evening at the Falk hotel at Seymour to discuss county post activities. Eighteen representatives from Seymour, Little Chute, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Appleton and Hortonville were present.

Outagamie-co as a unit has gone far over the top in the 1928 membership drive, it was brought out at the meeting and will establish an all time new mark before activities cease. All posts on the county have ordered road signs warning automobile drivers to watch for children in the streets. A joint meeting of all county posts within the next month also was discussed.

Charge Arctic Explorer With Assault on Estranged Hubby

New York. (P)—Mrs. Esther Wilson, Arctic explorer and big game hunter, was held Friday on a charge of felonious assault after shooting and seriously wounding her estranged husband, Dallett Wilson, New York attorney.

Mrs. Wilson, immediately after the shooting, told police she had called at her husband's office to demand a settlement of their marital difficulties.

"I wanted either to live together or be divorced," she said. "I offered to let him get the divorce, but he refused."

Mr. Wilson was wounded in the arm and in the back. Hospital doctors said the wounds were serious but that it was impossible to say whether he was in any great danger.

Both had been previously married and in 1910 were named correspondents in separate divorce actions.

Both couples were prominent in New York society at the time. Mrs. Wilson came to New York from Washington Sunday and Thursday afternoon she went to her husband's office in the Heckscher building on Fifth-avenue and was admitted to his private study.

At 6 o'clock two shots rang out. Associates ran into the room and found Mr. Wilson lying on the floor with his wife standing over him, a revolver in her hand.

DRUNK PREFERS FINE BUT JUDGE SENDS HIM TO JAIL

One Appleton man was sent to the county jail for ten days and another was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning when they pleaded guilty of drunkenness.

Charged with coming home in a drunken condition and beating his wife, William "Felix" W. Wisconsin, was sentenced to the county jail for ten days. Young asked the judge to impose a fine instead of the jail sentence, but Judge Berg refused, declaring Young needed a few days to think over his actions. Young was arrested by Officer Albert Delgen and Sergeant Mathew McGinnis at 12:25 Friday morning.

Young complained at the police station. Aaron Deeg, 121 Walter-ave, was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty. Deeg was arrested by Officers Albert Delgen and Lester Van Roy at the intersection of Spencer-rd and the Soo line railroad tracks at 11:35 Thursday night.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Fair tonight and probably Saturday, slightly warmer Saturday after noon.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
The low pressure, or storm area noted yesterday over the south has now moved to the Ohio valley, attended by precipitation from the middle Mississippi valley eastward. Its influence is now passing from this section and is followed by higher pressures now over the plans station, promising fair weather in this section tonight and Saturday, with no material changes in temperature conditions tonight and probably a slow rise in temperature beginning on Saturday. The pressure over the far northwest is now low, with rising temperature over the northern Rockies, promising more moderate conditions here over the weekend.

PRESENT AWARDS TO BOWLING VICTORS

Interlake Team Wins Trophy and Hugh Brinkman Gets Medal for High Score

The trophy for winning first place in the Y. M. C. A. industrial bowling league was awarded to the Interlake pulp and Paper Co. team at a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening.

Hugh Brinkman of the Postoffice team was given a gold medal for rolling the highest score. He topped 234 pins in one game. The medal for the highest average during the season went to Clarence Tarnow of the Valley Iron Works squad, whose mark was 172.

G. H. Packard, who presided at the banquet gave a short talk, telling about the relationships between the Y. M. C. A. and the industrial worker and the benefits derived by tournaments such as the bowling league held.

IF YOU SEEK AN HONEST MAN, TRY POSTAL EMPLOYEE

Honesty of local postal employees was demonstrated by an incident which occurred Thursday. When the Post-Crescent's mail was opened it was found that an envelope containing a 25 cent coin had a slit in one end and the money was gone! The slit in the envelope looked very much as though it was done by a knife or scissors and Assistant Postmaster H. J. Francis was notified.

Mr. Francis said he found a note with a 25 cent coin on his desk Thursday morning when he came to work. The note was from an employee who said the money was found in the mail pouch from the city from which the letter was mailed.

"Finding money in mail pouches is not an unusual occurrence," Mr. Francis said. "Our employees always turn such money over to the head of the office."

DESIGNER OF WORLD RECORD AEROPLANE ELATED OVER FEAT

Philip Shumway Keeps Wires Hot to Keep in Touch With Endurance Flight

service for the Fox River valley. He attended Lawrence college here in 1908-09.

By ten o'clock Shumway and Merritt felt that there was no doubt that a new record would be established and flew "The Pride of Appleton" to Milwaukee, taking as passengers Wilmer D. Schlafer, Harwood Finkle, and Henry Weimar.

The airplane that established the new record is an exact duplicate of "The Spirit of Appleton". Instead of the seats for passengers, however, a large gasoline tank had been installed to carry extra fuel for the flight. Mr. Shumway felt that, unless the pilots were fatigued, the ship would be able to stay in the air for 70 hours. He explained that recently invented devices greatly lowered the gasoline consumption. He said that with the first indication that the gas supply was running low, the aviators would start gaining altitude and would continue until the last drop of fuel had been consumed. The ship then would start a series of glides to earth, which, he believed, would take an hour.

C. D. Partridge and A. H. Falk of the Pettibone Peabody company have returned from a business trip to Chicago. Mrs. Arthur Schmidt of Manitowish has been visiting friends and relatives in this city. Henry Saul, New York, is spending several days in Appleton.

England Knows What To Do With New Mess Of Murders

BY MILTON BRONNER
London — British papers have not been talking so much lately about American gunmen and American murders. The reason is this. Great Britain has been having quite a mess of murders right here at home.

But there is one thing the Briton can still hug to his bosom—murder cases are disposed of far more rapidly than in the United States. It sometimes seems in America that all the procedure is aimed to make lawyers' bank accounts fat and to save the criminals from the ultimate penalties of the law. No such delays are known in English courts. The pace from the cell to the gallows is very quick.

A man is arrested and charged before a magistrate with murder. Part of the evidence is heard. Shortly he is indicted by a grand jury.

JURY QUICKLY CHOSEN
Where days elapse in America while a jury is being chosen, in Britain the panel is quickly filled, for the reason that neither side had the seemingly endless challenges that are allowed in American courts. And when a jury brings in the fateful verdict of "guilty," the murderer knows that he is going to get his in very short order. For him there is no year or two years' delay while appeals drag their weary way through various courts.

Over here murder cases seem to be given a sort of right of way, with the result that within a few days after an appeal is lodged, it is disposed of by the last court of resort and the criminal's doom is sealed.

There is only one thing about criminal trials over here that seem out of line with what we deem justice. In most American states the trial judge is charged with preserving the rights of the state and the accused during the taking of evidence. He conducts the trial.

After the last speeches have been made to the jury, the trial judge simply expounds to the jurors what the law is and what their powers are. It is quite different in England. Most times the judge makes a regular speech to the jury. He not only expounds the law. He takes up the evidence and often tears it to rags and shreds. His speech is often far more deadly and effective than that of the prosecuting officers.

JURY SELDOM REBELS
Over here the respect of the average juror for the judge is such that when the latter gets through talking, the doom of the man on trial is a foregone conclusion.

In most of our courts, if a judge made that kind of a speech to the jury, the accused would get a new trial as a matter of course.

One often wonders why the English still maintain the jury system in the light of their criminal trials. English judges go on the assumption that the jury must not only tell the laymen what the law is, but what the evidence is.

It's only once in a blue moon that a jury takes the bit in its mouth and runs away from the speech of the judge, returning a verdict of acquittal. And when it does, not only is Britain astonished, but the judge is shocked and angry. It seems strange to him that a jury should be found up for it, which insists on making up its own mind instead of having its mind made.

ALLEGED KNIFE SLAYER RETURNS TO FACE TRIAL

Merrill. (P)—Heeding the pleas of his wife that he give himself up, John Kauranen, 42, alleged knife slayer of Marvin Mittlestadt, 23, Friday was in the Lincoln-co jail charged with first degree murder after hiding since Monday in the dense woods of Price-co.

Returning to his home near Brantwood, Price-co, Thursday afternoon for some food—the first he said he had since he fled—Kauranen was persuaded by his wife to give himself up. Lincoln-co authorities were notified. A few hours later they came to get the man, worn from the strain of hiding from searching posses, and bringing him to the county jail here.

Kauranen is charged with slaying Mittlestadt in a knife brawl at Tully, Lincoln-co, Sunday. Admitting that he had wielded a knife on the youth, the farmer said that he thought he had only cut him once or twice and asserted that he did it in self-defense.

Preliminary hearing is planned for Friday afternoon or evening. It was at the suggestion of Sheriff Hugo Hang that the hunt for Kauranen was abandoned by the posses and the wife asked to urge her husband to give up. The wife agreed and Kauranen admitted after being taken into custody that he had made a mistake in running away.

SERVICE OFFICER TO TALK TO VETERANS

Legion and Auxiliary Arrange for Joint Meeting Monday Evening

A joint meeting of members of the Appleton post of the American legion and the legion auxiliary will be held Monday evening at the Elk club. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and invitations have been extended to all legionnaires and their wives in the county.

The speaker will be James Burns, state service officer. He will speak of the work of his office auxiliary and to the men who still are in hospital care. Many legionnaires have been of the opinion that service officers have had little to do in recent years. Mr. Burns will attempt to correct that opinion and show how his office is taxed more now than in many years previous.

EMPLOYMENT OUTLOOK IN VALLEY PRESENTS OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK

Farmers Seeking Help and Factories Have Demand for Skilled Labor

Along with national and state employment authorities who predict an increase in employment with the advent of spring, employment managers of the Fox river valley say while there has been no appreciable change in the labor situation of the valley in the past three or four weeks, there is a bright outlook for the near future.

Spring will mark the beginning of construction work and many men who are idle now will secure work, one employment manager said. Another pointed out that some men who are now holding jobs in various factories and shops would quit and secure outside work for the summer, thus making way for other workers.

There is some demand for skilled workmen and farm hands but unskilled labor is not needed, a survey of factories reveals.

"While we receive many applications for work from unskilled laborers, we cannot use any at present although we have room for a number of skilled machinists," said James Hannigan, employment manager of the Valley Iron Works, Appleton.

From six to ten applications are received by Paul Smith, manager of Combined Locks Paper company, Combined Locks, every day but there is no demand for workmen at that plant. Mr. Smith said things were quiet but with the coming of spring he expected conditions would be better.

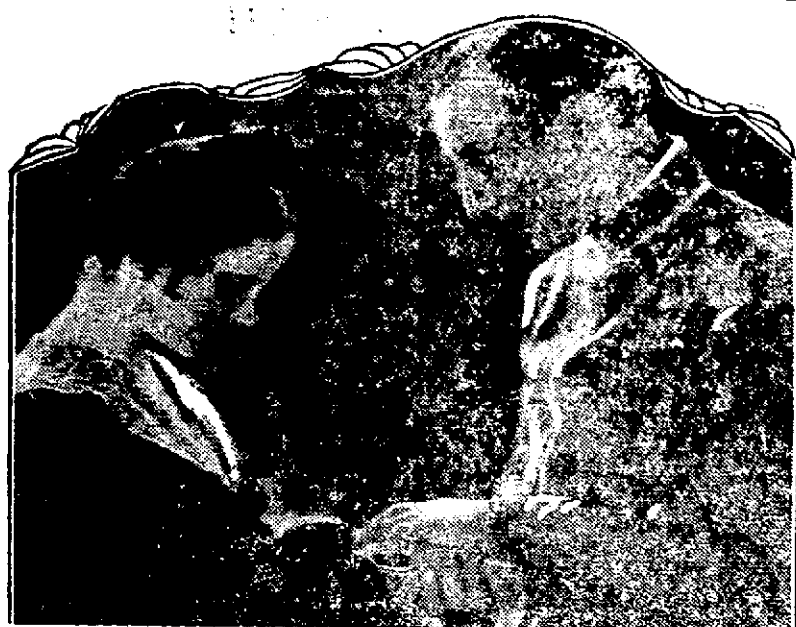

"We have received from 10 to 15 applications for work every day for many weeks but we have had no turn over of men during the past three weeks," said Edward Krueger, manager of the Kimberly-Clark Paper company plant at Kimberly.

While there is no immediate prospect for work, with the coming of spring things are expected to pick up, Mr. Krueger believes.

Practically no changes were made recently in the working force at Thilmany Pulp and Paper company plant at Kaukauna, according to W. F. Ashe, employment manager. Mr. Ashe said there was no immediate prospect for more employment.

Farmers are seeking helpers and many men have been placed at that kind of work in the past few weeks by the employment agency of the local Y. M. C. A. R. M. Kleinmeyer, manager of the employment agency, said he has been deluged with applications for work but that at present there

WRISTON, WATTS GOING TO DELOIT CONFERENCE

Dr. H. M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, and R. B. Watts, business manager of the college, will attend the conference of college presidents, treasurers and business managers Thursday, April 5, at Deloit college.

President Wriston will be in charge of the discussion Thursday evening on Uniform Accounting for Colleges. President Irving Maurer of Deloit college is in charge of the discussion on Comparison of Departmental Expenses and Trevor Arnett of the General Education board will lead the discussion on College Tuitional costs.

Colleges which have been invited to send representatives to the conference are Beloit, Carleton, Carroll, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Lawrence, Milwaukee-Downer, Ripon and Rockford.

There was little demand for unskilled labor but with the coming of spring he expected conditions would be somewhat better.

"Many country men are applying here daily for work but business is quiet at present and there is little need for men," said J. C. Dorland, employment manager at the Fox river paper company.

20 per cent of the people they visit declare they didn't think they had to pay a personal property tax.

"When we paid our taxes, we thought we were paying everything," they said, according to the officers.

Some people claim they didn't pay the tax because they didn't have the money, Officer Ratzman said. One man had to go to his neighbor to borrow $7 cents to pay his tax, according to the officer.

"Many people become angry when we go to the house and find the curtains in their neighbors home are moving around and they know there will be a collection so early the policeman said. However, most of the people we visit are very polite and they pay their taxes on time."

The officers said that they will have between 10 and 15 more days to collect the taxes.

MANY HERE END COLDS WAY DOCTORS ADVISE

Find Hospital Tested Method
Quick, Pleasant and Inexpensive for Home Use

Head colds, coughs and chest colds can be ended quickly -- often in a few hours -- by a method doctors now advise which vast numbers of Appleton people have found to be ideal for home use.

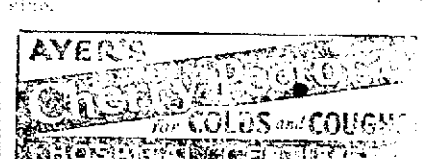

M. D. Ellis, for example, caught cold several days ago while riding in an open car. He paid little attention to it until two mornings later when his eyes became inflamed and his nose was stopped up. Then when a feeling of tightness across his chest caused fear of pneumonia, he called his physician for advice.

Relief began quickly when his doctor gave him Ayer's Cherry Pectoral -- a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, turpentine and other ingredients which relieved even the most extreme bronchial cases. With first pleasant swallow he felt the comforting heat of warmth from his nose passing deep down into his bronchial tubes.

By lunch time his nose and chest had cleared up considerably. "That made me feel like a new man and I could go to work as usual," he said. "I only coughed or sneezed a few times, but the doctor reports no more than a pretty bad cold."

Nate S. Smith was stricken with cold and cough a few days ago while attending business.

Doctors find that this method of combating colds is ideal for all ages. It is a simple, pleasant and effective way of getting rid of colds, coughs and chest colds. It is a method that has been used by doctors for many years and is now being recommended by the most prominent medical authorities. It is a method that is simple, pleasant and effective. It is a method that is ideal for home use.

We are constantly being asked by patients, "What have my teeth to do with my sickness?"

The world has come to know through physicians and others that bad teeth mean bad health, that the infection from a decayed tooth or an ulcerated gum lasts as long as the condition is unattended. If your teeth are bad and your health is low, you need dentistry. If obtained here it is a high grade service at low cost.

WALSH'S CANDIDACY MARKS LONG TERM OF POLITICAL STRUGGLE

Montana Senator Has Taken Politics Seriously for Many Years

Helena, Mont.—(AP)—The candidacy of Thomas Jefferson Walsh for the Democratic presidential nomination completes the span of a political career that he hewed out with his own hands.

Walsh tasted bitter political defeat in Montana before he won a victory. Montana takes its politics with the seriousness, tenacity of feeling that actuated the horsemen who once pursued rustlers across its open ranges.

He was 31 when he came to Helena in 1890 to open a law office. It was 22 years later that he went to Washington as a United States Senator. Today he is a national figure, notably for his work as prosecutor on the senate committee which ferreted out the illegal oil reserve leases.

In 1910 the Montana legislature was deadlocked for weeks, unable to decide whether to send Walsh or Henry L. Myers to the United States senate. Myers won by two votes. Four years later, Walsh, a lawyer with a stern jaw under his drooping moustache, had sought in vain a congressional seat from his home district.

But in 1912, when Montana voters made their own selection of a United States senator for the first time, Walsh won. He was reelected in 1918 without difficulty and again in 1924. He was a standard bearer for the administration during the world war and a leader in the fight for American membership in the League of Nations. But it was in the summer and fall of 1923 that his beetling eyebrows and his drooping moustache became recognized the country over, when he became the leader in the senate's special committee for the investigation of the oil leases.

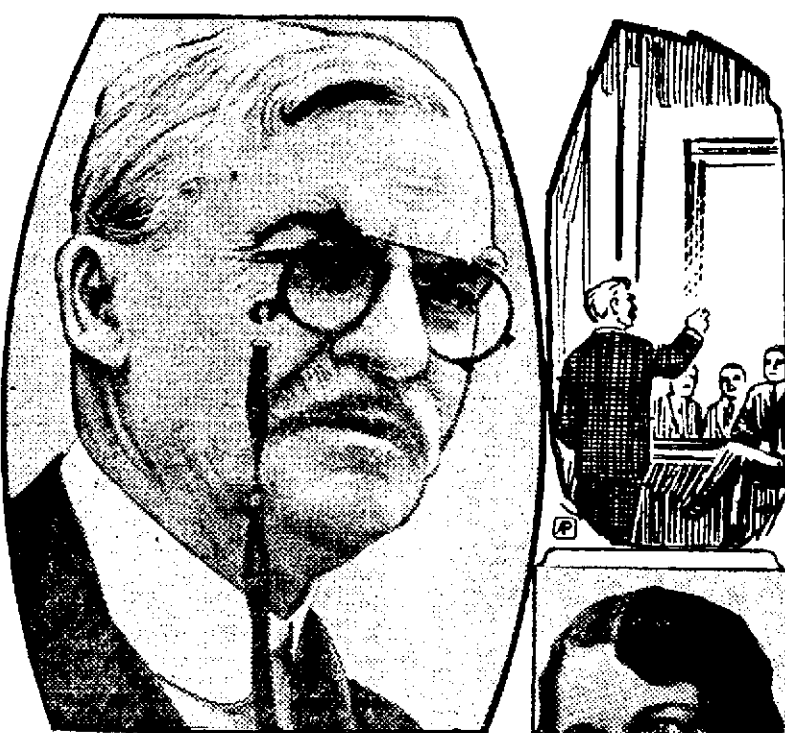

Senator Walsh is a widower. His wife, whom he married in Redfield, S. D., where he began the practice of law at the age of 25, died in 1920. He has one daughter, Mrs. Emmet C. Gudger, now at Newport, R. I., whose husband is a commander in the navy, and two granddaughters, children of the Gudgers—Ellen, 7, and Gloria, 3.

SLEEPING SICKNESS STUDIED IN AFRICA

Madison—(AP)—The work of the University of Wisconsin Medical school in attempting to find a cure for sleeping sickness will be carried on in tropical Africa next year by Dr. W. K. Stratman-Thomas. Madison, who has just been named a fellow of the John Simon Guggenheim Foundation for 1928-29.

Dr. Stratman-Thomas will leave next fall for Belgian Congo where he will experiment with the six drugs developed by the Wisconsin Medical school as treatment for sleeping sickness. The effect of the Wisconsin cure on trypanosomes, the sleeping sickness of Africa, which is unrelated to cephalitis, the variety of sleeping sickness found in this country, will be the primary object of his study.

WOULD BE PRESIDENT

After 16 years in the senate, Thomas J. Walsh (above) of Montana has permitted friends to seek his nomination as democratic candidate for president. Senator Walsh is a widower. His only daughter, Mrs. E. C. Gudger, wife of a navy commander, and her two children, Ellen, seven, and Gloria, three, are shown below.

LEADER NEEDED TO FIGHT FOREST FIRES

Duluth Man Says Delay Caused by Lack of Leadership Is Often Costly

Milwaukee—(AP)—The first essential of efficient suppression of forest fires is "the plain concentration of authority at an individual fire in the hands of one competent man," the Wisconsin Commercial Forestry conference was told today by C. L. Cecil of the Cornell Wood Products company, Duluth.

Discussing his own experiences with protection of forests from fire on the company's land in Wisconsin, Cecil asserted that the lack of the one leader principle in fire-fighting work "for decision of the part of the duly elected chief is more disastrous than in most other enterprises."

Two other things, Cecil said, he had gleaned from his work:

That permanent fire breaks are not considered to justify the cost of construction and maintenance.

That slash disposal should not be attempted either from a protective standpoint except possibly in rare instances over very small areas. Increased patrol, he said, is advisable for two years after cutting and some concentration of equipment also is needed.

In connection with his protection work, the company conducted an intensive educational program in the immediate vicinity of its holdings, made efforts to enlist all the land it could in a general protection plan beginning with the federal men in charge of the Weeks law operation and continuing down to local supervisors appointed by the town chairman.

VOCATIONAL STUDENTS HEAR ABOUT DYE MAKING

The processes of making ultramarine, the importance of coal tar chemistry to national welfare, the benzene industry with reference to its connection with every day life and the use of colors in bleaching paper will be among the things discussed in an illustrated lecture at Appleton Vocational school Friday, April 26. The speaker of the evening will be August Metz of the Metz-Heller company.

Newark, N. J. dye products representatives. Each of the various points explained will be shown by a series of chemical treatment whenever possible. A simple azo dye will be made on the lecture table and special glass department equipment will be used in proving the points which will be discussed. Although the lecture will be primarily for persons not studying in the manufacture of dyes, it will also be open to the general public.

In 1617, an advertisement of a book, "The Divine Right of Church Government," was the first to be printed in an English newspaper.

WHAT IS A REPUBLICAN?

Asserting that if Senator Blaine is chosen as one of the delegates to the Republican national convention he "is not morally or legally entitled to a seat," Mr. Fontaine, chairman of the state Republican organization says that that organization will challenge the credentials of the senator at Kansas City for the principal reason that he has seceded from the Republican party and has no right or claim to participate in its deliberations. But such a claim is not under our primary law, a meritorious one, and if the people of Wisconsin want to choose Mr. Blaine as a delegate he should be seated.

Account must be taken of the provisions of our peculiar and unusual primary law, differing in so many important particulars from primary laws in other states. Here Socialists or Democrats may and often do vote in the Republican primary and Republicans are perfectly free to vote any primary ticket they choose. One of the purposes of the Wisconsin primary was to erase the Democratic party off the map, a thing which, in so far as its appearance on the state ticket is concerned, has been accomplished.

But so long as it is a legal thing for any person to vote any primary ticket he chooses, must it not be considered a proper thing for all purposes regardless of the fact that in an ethical sense it may be said not to be either moral or proper? No means is at hand to determine how many Socialists or how many Democrats vote the Republican primary ticket to Mr. Blaine's advantage, so there is no means at hand to determine whether he is actually the choice of Republicans or not. But the defect is a defect in our primary law and that is the thing that ought to be remedied.

There is another and broader aspect of the matter and one that must not be lost in the shuffle. Wisconsin has a right to a voice in the national convention. If a majority of the people voting the Republican primary ticket vote for Mr. Blaine, the right of that majority must be respected. That is a principle that goes down into the very roots of our form of government and a principle to which we must all adhere with the greatest tenacity and without regard to personal opinions of the correctness or justice of the choice.

The impropriety of sending Mr. Blaine as a delegate to a convention of the Republican party of course is manifest. But it is nothing unusual. Our congressman in this district is no more of a Republican judged by the standards of that party as established by a national convention, than is Mr. Blaine. The example could be spread much further. Simply because Mr. Blaine is a sort of maverick in politics is no reason the great and splendid principles upon which this entire government is founded should be thrown in the wastebasket. We dare say that were Mr. Blaine elected as a delegate and faced with an objection or challenge to his right to sit, he would base that right upon "the rule of the majority" and then turn around and deny the right of that very majority in convention assembled to fix and determine upon the principles of the party he claims to represent or to choose its nominee. It makes a peculiar, an anomalous situation, but Mr. Blaine is a peculiar sort of man.

Nor do we think that Mr. Fontaine's position would receive more than scant consideration by the Republican national convention. That convention is going to have before it weightier and more serious problems than attaching to Senator Blaine any really serious importance. Sending him as a delegate would only result in the continued harm that comes to this state from being looked upon throughout the Union as a sully little fellow not knowing very much but with a high opinion of its own importance.

A CITY FOR CHILDREN

Radburn, New Jersey, may be the model town of the America of the future. At any rate the planning of this remarkable community deserves notice throughout the country for the fact that it is being built in frank recognition of the motor age and its dangers—particularly as those dangers apply to child life.

The great tragedy of our cities is that they were planned back in the time when the occasional runaway was the only peril. All houses fronted on streets of fairly uniform width. A waffle iron would be a perfect landscape plan for the average American community. Every one wanted to drive up to his door and have deliveries made at his door, as conveniently as every one else. Social intercourse was via the street. The children played there. Of course there was backyard gossip but it was over a fence and if back yards happened to meet in a mutual concourse that concourse was made an alley.

The killing of children in the streets has made imperative a change in this manner of building for American towns of the future and the great opportunity lies with the suburb. Radburn appears to be a pretty fair guess at the trend this change must take. Constructed by a highly intelligent group of New York notables including Felix Adler and Anne Morgan, it is a new city planned for twenty-five thousand people, homes, industries and all. Its "blocks," if they may be called that, are nearly two-fifths of a mile long and a fifth of a mile wide. Along them will run through motor highways. But not a single house will face these highways.

The houses will face small dead-end streets accommodating only the cars of the owners. These side streets will run in from the highways at the rate of about nine to the block. At the dead ends of these side streets and running lengthwise up the center of the big block will be a parkway with playfields and tennis courts and on one side of this parkway will be the school for the unit. To reach the parkway children will not use the little streets but will use a garden path down the center of the common "back yard" for each double row of houses. They will play in a park where there is no danger of automobiles and they will reach the school without ever crossing a motor traffic street, though for some this will involve a walk of a third of a mile. It will be possible for children to reach the neighborhood shopping center with the same safety.

Designed by some of the nation's foremost architects this "model city" is a glimpse of the home-owner community that is to come. Miniature variations of the same plan may be seen in other cities but this is the first instance of a large and complete community on an automobile safety basis.

CHAIN SCHOOLS

Mrs. Beatrice Ensor, founder of a very modern experimental school in England, says she is now planning a chain of schools in England, Germany and France which will carry the same courses. Thus a pupil may spend a year in each country learning the language and viewpoint, and at the same time prepare for college entrance.

That is an attractive plan. The value of foreign travel and study for young pupils as well as for graduate students and teachers is recognized today in many educational movements. A school which gave the pupil his first year in his active land, and the other years in other countries, ought to accomplish a good deal in the way of broadening outlook and culture. Such schools, of course, are still available only to a limited group of boys and girls, but they point a new way. Some day, perhaps, many young people will have similar opportunities.

The fashion for having no pockets in women's dresses is hygienically bad, as it means that handkerchiefs are carried in the hand and left lying about, with a resulting spread of germs.

Fashion, both male and female, effect industry. Short skirts for women increased unemployment while turned-up trousers for men benefitted the fancy-sock trade.

Wood and fabrics dipped into a metal bath can be a patient process, be coated with practically any desired metal, making them immensely stronger than their natural state.

Funnels were fitted to motor ships because, when the first of these, the Scheldt, was put into service in 1912, many emigrants refused to sit in her because she lacked funnels.

FALLACIES WE RELUCT TO RELINQUISH

18.—THAT ARTHRITIS CALLS FOR A DIET

For many years I have been striving vainly to persuade the plain people to adopt the term "diet" to cover indisposition or illness from any of the common respiratory infections that circulate so freely among the plain people under the disarming and misleading name of "common cold." But no plain person has accepted the term; only a few quack folk like myself. Of course the doctors who still find "cold" a useful diagnostic evasion are reluctant to relinquish the term, but I have no such hope. According to a newspaper item the mayor of Atlanta was kept away from his office a few days with "cra," and this news warms the cockles of my heart—not that the mayor had erred but that some one thus publicly avowed the word.

In view of the obstinacy, not to say temerity, of the majority of good doctors about the use of the trick diagnosis of "cold," I feel no resentment when the layman seriously describes his ailment as a "cold." It does exasperate me though when a layman becomes combative about it and utters continually about the attempt to make people call a cold by any other name. People like that—well, they'll always be like that. Such people would never voluntarily support scientific sanitation—they consider the health officer's sole function is to remove carcasses, suppress stinks and watch against the dread sewer gas, and I fear a good many health officers share this conception.

Another hallowed tradition of the dark ages of medicine I have been foolishly battering my head against for some years is "rheumatism." Until just lately I have simply asserted there is no such entity, condition, disease, and left the dazed victim of the delusion to wonder what I was driving at. If one has been subject for many years to what one's doctor called and still calls rheumatism, it may be delightful news to hear there is no such affliction, but one naturally retorts "then what ails me, if it isn't rheumatism?"

And so I have at last found an appropriate rejoinder to that retort. It is arthritis. There's a nice, honest word for it, snappy, nothing vague or misleading about it. Arthritis—that's medicalness for a joint condition, or a tendency to joint inflammation. "Rheumatism" meant nothing of the kind; your dictionary will tell you that rheum means rather a discharge, a flow—indeed "sunt rheum" is a familiar name for eczema.

If there were really such a state or condition as "rheumatism," we might reasonably suspect that dietary factors had something to do with it, and accordingly one or another kind of diet might be of some value in treatment. Since the frightful explosion of the uric acid theory a quarter of a century ago the imposing edifice or hokum that was built upon that theory has been wholly in the hands of the mail order "specialists," regular nostrum makers and commercially successful quacks in our exclusive medical ranks. If a victim of chronic arthritis ever obtained any benefit from diet, it was compiled with reference to uric acid content or freedom from it, the benefit was due to coincidence—for all arthritis sufferers have their ups and downs—rather to the temporary rest from overeating, mainly of carbohydrate food materials.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

You Freeze Before You Sleep

An article in your column claimed that the safest course for a person caught in a blizzard or lost in a snowstorm is to stand in the middle of the street, sit on R with back to wind, rest head on knees and, if possible, take a nap. You argued that he would thus conserve his energies, refresh himself with a rest or a sleep, and go on his way rejoicing when the storm had let up. All very fine in theory, but hardly acceptable in fact. Here is a newspaper article telling about a man who was lost that way. It is a story of a medical man, a doctor, who was lost in a blizzard. He was found by a search party. He was found with his back to the wind, his head on his knees, and he was found with a very bad cold.

Answer.—The clipping tells of the finding of the body of a Kansas aviator, Fred Hoyt, who had to jump with parachute in the snowbound mountain region of southern Idaho. His diary told of his keeping a fire burning, throughout the night. The final entry at 3 p. m. told how he intended to stay where he was and keep warm that night, and then next day remove his flying suit and go south. Ranchers who found Hoyt's body said he had apparently gathered brush for a fire, then sat down to rest, fell asleep and never awakened. This tragic occurrence has no such significance to me. It doesn't even suggest that the man froze to death. He died, perhaps, from the effects of injury suffered when he jumped from his plane. At any rate, I'd follow the policy I described if I were caught in such a situation—it is not my theory, but the empirical conclusion of Vilhelm Steffansson. It would be foolish to exhaust one's strength in wild or blind movement, and as Steffansson wisely observes, any one not utterly exhausted or seriously ill will awake from nap or sleep if he becomes cold.

Too Too Light

In the twelfth movement of the Brady Symphony I find it is impossible for the body to sitting position without holding my feet down under a heavy weight. Unless I do this my feet will not stay on the floor. Must one do the exercises slowly enough to take a full breath with each one? Must one breathe only through the nose while doing the exercises? (G. W.)

Answer.—Use a weight to hold the feet down, but breathe through the nose. I don't believe speeding the exercise faster than breathing is of any value. Breathe through the nose and mouth too when you are exerting yourself. This is normal—all runners in a race breathe through the mouth and nose too. (Copyright John E. Dille company.)

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, April 3, 1903

President Roosevelt was Chicago's guest for the first time since his inauguration. While there he received the degree of LL. B. from the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Odison left for the south that week. They expected to be gone until about the first of May.

Frogs were being sold to Chicago persons at 10 cents a dozen. One man returned from up river one day that week with eighty dozen frogs, a day's work, all of which he had sold in advance.

A committee composed of Wisconsin and Michigan men was appointed to investigate the white war, arose as a result of invasion of each other's territory.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, March 29, 1918

Rain and wind had come to the aid of the allies. The fighting continued despite a sudden change in the weather. Four heavy attacks were repulsed late that day. The allied offensive was to be under way soon, it was expected.

John Kahn, congo man from California, was to speak in Appleton that evening in the interests of Irvine L. Leonard, candidate for United States senator.

The K. K. K. Club met the previous evening at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Schwartzburg, Center St. Miss Helen Schwartzburg entertained with dancing numbers. A number of songs were sung by Myrtle Eames, Leroy Deland, Harry Colvin and Carl Van Zant. The next meeting was to be at the home of Mrs. E. J. Rutz.

The Monthly Club met at the following Monday at the home of Mrs. John A. Truitt, 524 College Ave. Mrs. A. A. Truitt was to give the program.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THORNTON WILDER

Recently in this column I devoted an "Adventure" to "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton Wilder, one of the most beautiful books of the year and moreover that almost incredible thing, a philosophical novel that is also a best seller.

It seems worth while calling attention to the author because he illustrates something in American fiction that seems important to me. Thornton Wilder is almost a youngster compared with many novelists who are prominently before the country today. He was born in 1897 and he is a middle westerner, his birthplace being Madison, Wisconsin. He spent his early years in China where his father was Consul General, and later prepared for college in California. He was graduated from Yale in 1920, after which he spent two years at the American Academy in Rome.

After this he taught at Lawrenceville, then spent some time studying and writing at the Princeton graduate college. Then he went to Europe where he started writing "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," and now he is back in this country writing a new book.

Why all these biographical facts about a young writer who has achieved a distinguished novel? What have the facts of his life to do with his book?

For answer, imagine what the typical life of the typical writer of the typical American best seller is like. He is born perhaps in the middle west. He works his way through the little denominational college in his native town, washing dishes and tending furnaces. He achieves a course at the university in the same way. Then he gets a job on a newspaper or he gravitates to New York and becomes a blurb writer for a publisher. The details are not important, by the time he achieves his first "hit" in fiction he has seen the insides of restaurant kitchens and class rooms and newspaper offices and perhaps, if he is enterprising, saloons and perhaps brothels. Out of such material he shapes his book. No Children
May Be Cause
Of Divorces

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

We are learning more about Napoleon, and still more about Josephine.

Emil Ludwig, biographer, has enlightened us considerably on the intimate life of this famous pair.

Until recently we have always called her "poor Josephine," and Napoleon dead and turned to clay has not been here to defend his treatment of the lady.

Disregarding the empress' inclination to "step out" a bit, let us consider a paragraph or two concerning Napoleon himself, when, at the age of twenty-six, he fell in love with the future queen.

Says Ludwig: "Is it not obvious that this man (Napoleon) who is utterly self-centered must passionately long for a perpetuation of his own ego?"

"The one thing in the world which Napoleon cannot make without another's aid is an heir."

Napoleon was truly in love with Josephine; she was the love of his life, but we know the result of the childless union, the divorce, and the later marriage of Napoleon to Marie Louise of Austria, of which union there was born a son, who died when he was very young.

I do not believe it is altogether selfishness, however, in men to want children, and there is no disputing the fact that most men do. I often wonder if the proverbial romance of mother-love is not overestimated and that of father-love underestimated!

True, some men don't seem to crave children, but I believe that Napoleon was a fair representative of his kind. A man may wish children from sheer egotism, but he loves them just the same, perhaps in some cases more proudly than their mother does, when they come.

The French court was an outstanding example of divorce for lack of children. It may today be more of a contributory cause of divorce than we know.

SISTER MARY'S
KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Macedonia of fruit, cereal, cream, poached eggs on spinach on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cauliflower baked with cheese, butter bread, tapioca prune pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Lamb stew with dumplings, grape fruit and cabbage salad, apple roly-poly, milk, coffee.

TAPIoca PRUNE PUDDING

One and one-half cups milk, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup stewed and stoned prunes.

Heat milk in double boiler and slowly add tapioca, stirring constantly. Add salt and cook fifteen minutes, stirring frequently.

Remove from fire and add sugar, butter and well-beaten yolks of eggs. Beat well and turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Beat whites of eggs until stiff, beating in 3 tablespoons powdered sugar and 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Cover top of tapioca with an even layer of prunes. Pie beaten egg whites over prunes and return to a slow oven for ten minutes. Serve warm or cold.

FASHION HINTS

BROWN AND WHITE

New sports shoes favor the brown and white combination. One pair of white baby doe-skin have tips, saddles and heels of fancily stitched brown kid.

PEAKED LAPELS

New silk suits are featuring the peaked lapels that men favor this year. A violet crepe de chine suit has its edges bound with catwba.

LOUPLY PLEATED

A stinging colored satin afternoon frock had two belts the wide one at the waistline of medium brown and a narrow one two inches lower of dark brown.

TUCK-IN WAIST

Tuck-in shirts or waists are in again for the first time in years. Pastel colored, linen ones are very good with navy blue or black suits.

NEW RED

English-red is the latest summer shade. It makes colorful slippers for soft lace dresses, accessories for sports and prints for afternoon.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

ALL things that go into a cake were soon poured in. "For less sake," said Copy as he watched the fun, "I really never knew that sugar, butter, flour and spice are things that made a cake so nice. I surely hope that I will have a piece when we are through."

"Don't worry," said the baker man. "The cake is big. You bet you can. There'll surely be plenty, so that everyone can eat. Now that you've worked with all your might, I hope that all things turn out right. It won't be very long now till you all will have a treat."

And, all this time wee Clowny stood and stirred the mixture up real good. The spoon he used was very large, and hard for him to hold. "Oh, let me try it for a while," said Copy. This made Clowny smile. "Go right ahead," he answered. "We'll soon pour it in the mould."

The baker then said, "I've a plan. We may as well do all we can to make this cake taste like the best that you have ever had. Let's crack some nuts and put them in. Now, here they are, so let's begin." The Tinites started cracking them, which made the baker glad.

Right soon they had the nuts all shelled, and then the cake dough slowly swelled as Copy poured them in and then began to stir some more. The baker said, "I think it best that Copy take a rest. I'll finish up the stirring till the cake is set to pour."

Then, in a little while he cried, "All right, now, gather by my side, and you will see me pour it." Very close the Tinites ran. The bowl of dough was lifted high. The Tinites heaved a happy sigh, then cheered as Mister Baker poured it slowly in the pan.

(The Tinites get a surprise in the next story.)

COEDS NO COOKS
SAYS PROFESSOR

When Walter Dill Scott, head of Northwestern University, told the American Association of University Women that American colleges should make as much of the profession of home-making as any other profession, he was saying nothing new. Even his method of treatment was the same old line, to wit, there would be fewer divorces if college girls knew how to keep house, it's a shame the way a girl knows how to do true problems or read the old Anglo-Saxon when she can't bake a decent apple pie or change the baby's most essential garment.

COOK BOOKS HELP

Somewhat the old diatribe sprang on modern girls seems to have the pungent fragrance of moth balls. It's not a fresh vital viewpoint. Pie baking and housekeeping is no challenging full-time job to the college-trained girl who knows, or should, how to make the most of her intelligence, and who can make a very creditable apple pie for the first time in her life by taking down the wedding present cook book and turning to the chapter on pies. Don't say "show me!" for I've seen it done, and I affirm that the modern girl as a housekeeper beats her mother.

POWER PUFF SLAP

Again youth wins! A certain judge ruled that a father had no right to slap a daughter merely because she used a powder puff and lipstick. Only a few days ago another judge ruled that a father must keep his coat and shoes on when his daughter has company.

The swing of the pendulum again. Time was when children had no rights in homes. But it's beginning to look as if in this age of youth, they have all the rights—not that I believe a father should slap his daughter for powdering, but I do think there is an increasing tendency in all phases of our modern life to let youth do what it pleases and ask Pop and Mom to "go away back and sit down."

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Mom, dearest:

Imagine people talking about anything so trivial as my seeing Norman when he was here! And they might remember that he was known to take a drink long before I married Alan—and

I don't mean water. It's funny how the world always wants to blame some woman for a man's skidding and make her pay if they can. But when it's vice versa you don't see any mad rush to punish the man.

Well, that's no justice that women will correct when they get the reins in their own hands. It was a pretty easy trick the men took when they put across the single standard idea. It left them free to philander without obligation to pay the piper but the piper has always been a Slylock. I understand and so the woman had to pay.

It's a lot of applause about women being the custodians of morals. That was just a subtle masculine touch to make us like man's one-sided rule of conduct. What he has failed to foresee, though, is that woman is going to demand that he measure up to the standard he has set for her. When the time comes that an immoral man is as horribly disgraced as an immoral woman, man may wish he hadn't built the fence quite so high. Once on our side, presuming we are all as good as men've said we must be, they'll get just as full of splinters as any of us if they try to climb over.

By splinters, I mean the nasty pricks of gossip. Not that one has to be immoral to get talked about but I do think it was man's putting us up a pedestal to keep the world safe for the tired philanderer that started gossip in the first place.

If there was anything wrong in my seeing Norman he is just as guilty as I am. And it was partly because I was afraid he would take up drinking as a vocation that I didn't marry him soon after we were engaged. But I suppose everyone is feeling sorry for him.

Women may be the biggest scandal mongers but it was man's conventions that made us the targets for each other's barbed tongues. I'm praying for the day when women will all realize this and stick together to shake off the shackles they put on us. In the meantime I'm the goat at home, it appears. Happily it worries me not, except for you, Mom dear.

Darling love,
MARYE.

Well Dressed for Easter

MORE than any other day of the year, your friends expect you to look your best on Easter Sunday.

This is a good time to have all your Spring clothes put in shape—not only for Easter but also for the balmy weeks to come.

Men have suits, top coats and hats that need attention. Women have spring coats, hats, gloves and dresses, which can be given a new lease on life by a thorough dry cleaning. Perhaps a last season's dress or scarf is faded, too, and could be dyed in this year's fashionable colors.

Naturally you want to look as well dressed as your friends on Easter Day. Dry cleaning will enable you to have a new-looking outfit at remarkably low cost.

Send in your things early. When Easter draws near, our plant will be rushed.

CHURCH CHOIR PREPARES FOR SACRED CANTATA

Mount Olive Lutheran church choir will present the sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," at the church at 3:15 next Friday evening under the direction of F. H. Jebe. The cantata was written and arranged by Shapcott Wensley and the music was composed by J. H. Maunder.

The choir of 40 voices rehearsed in the church basement Thursday evening. After the rehearsal a short business meeting was held and the following committee chairmen were appointed to make arrangements for the cantata: Melvin Knoke, seating committee; Arthur Kahler, program publicity committee, and Leone Hegner, invitation and announcement committee. The chairmen will select their committees.

The next rehearsal will be held from 2:30 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the orchestra of 30 pieces will accompany the choir. Russell Wichman is director.

PREPARE BRIEF ON PROPOSED RAIL MERGER

Madison—(AP)—A brief outlining the opposition of the Wisconsin railroad commission to the proposed merger of the great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads is to be prepared sometime between June 5 and July 5, according to Samuel Bryan, who has been representing the state commission in the various hearings conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Organizations and state commissions which are supporting the merger must file their briefs by June 5, Mr. Bryan says, while those opposed to the merger have until 30 days after that time. He believes the Wisconsin commission will wait until the supporting briefs are filed before it compiles one in opposition, so it may have an opportunity to answer some of the arguments advanced in favor of the merger.

Why Did Columbus Discover America?

In 1492, Columbus set sail in strange waters—set sail over an uncharted sea—a sea of superstition and uncertainties. It was to find a new way to India, whence spices came—the only means of preserving foods in those days—that Columbus undertook to cross the Atlantic. Little did he dream that across these waters, centuries later, the search for improved means of preserving foods would be continued until the problem no longer existed. And with Frigidaire, the electric refrigerator of General Motors, refrigeration truly ceases to be a problem, but a convenience, and a safeguard to Health. Frigidaire, through its constant cold temperatures, eliminates all needless food spoilage; preserves food according to Government standards. And by so doing, it effects many economies—economies not only in food savings—but economies in actual refrigeration costs.

Funeral services will be held at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church at Manawa Saturday, the Rev. R. A. Jamparsky will be in charge. Interment will be in the Manawa cemetery.

Mrs. S. Swartz of this city went to Shishko Thursday to attend a luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Stig entertained members of the Rotary club at their home on N. Main-st Wednesday evening. The occasion was in honor of Mr. L. Munseth, the oldest member of the club, on his seventy-ninth birthday. Mr. Munseth was one of the charter members of the local club.

Charles Folkman, from whose parents Mr. Munseth bought the farm south of this city in the early days, told some of his childhood recollections in the home of the Munseth family.

E. J. Perkins, with whom Munseth is associated in the lumber business, gave some unusual and interesting accounts of such he and his partner had had, in their trips and cruises through the woods.

A communication was read from the Appleton Rotary club, inviting the local club to Appleton at which time they had secured John Moody, president of the Moody Investors service, as speaker at Rotary meeting. Other neighboring clubs have been invited also.

Reuben Greb, chairman of the On-to-Minnacopis committee, to the International Congress of Rotary from June 18-20, announced that it would be necessary to make hotel reservations for that meeting. During the next ten days. About 75 per cent of the club members have signified their intention of attending the meeting.

MANAWA MAN DIES
Charles Handrich, 73, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Gehrke, Wednesday. He had been visiting at the Gehrke home for about a week. An unusual coincidence was that 15 years ago Mrs. Gehrke's mother died at her home where she was brought after collapse.

He was born in Germany, May 24, 1773 years ago, and was brought to this country by his parents when he was but nine months old. The family settled in Bloomfield, and in 1880 he was married to Miss Mary Kleps of Bloomfield. The young couple bought a farm at Manawa, where he has since

That "Something" May Be Color

Color carefully applied in the home is just as important as color in a picture. It's the color that adds to or detracts from the appeal of a room.

Women lament the fact that their furniture "seems to lack something"—something they can not describe. It's there, but so hard to visualize.

When that bewildering, mysterious "something" is found, it is often a matter of a little color here and there to remedy that which is lacking. It may require an enlivening color effect, or merely a "hushed" tone

With Lloyd Furniture you can "tone up" or "tone down" any room whichever is required. Let us show you how easy it is to select "color needs" for the home. Our floor stock is now complete with the latest designs, finishes and upholstery combinations at unusually low prices.

COMPLETE SURVEY AT LAKE GENEVA

Citizens There Wanted to Know Just How Good Their City Was

Lake Geneva—(AP)—A survey that took twelve months has been completed by this city, which sought an answer to the question: How Good is Lake Geneva?

About a year ago, 120 citizens of the city agreed to under-take the work proposed by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work. Their job done, a report has been made to the conference and judges, selected from all over the country are now receiving the various sections of the community study. They will pass upon the various living conditions in Lake Geneva and their report will be embodied in the citizen report to show what civic and social needs the city has.

Charts, long listings of facts and figures, and other arrangements of data included in the citizen report picture physical and social environments in Lake Geneva.

The survey enters these fields: City planning, Education, Public Administration, Recreation, Town and Country Relations, Industry and Commerce, Health, Social Service, Public Library, Religion and others.

Health facts, for instance, the group charged with gathering facts on this phase of the city's life looked up to the city's vital statistics (birth and death records) were kept, what the annual death rate is, how many houses have sewage connections and how many have good ones; whether the milk supply is safe, etc.

The group working on the investigation of social service, looked into the number of delinquent children in Lake Geneva, the number of mentally sub-normal ones, the number of dependent families. It found whether family social case work is part of the program of social workers and whether adequate investigation is made of requests for aid in cases of poverty, sickness or other distress. The group looked into all of the court actions involving children.

The investigational group's report on the local government section will give information on the interests of citizens in their government, taken from the poll lists; efficiency of the police department, jail facilities, handling of public bids, supervision of sewage disposal and condition of the city fire department, along with other municipal facts.

The judges who will report back to Lake Geneva the result of their analysis of the citizen-made summary, are men in charge of playground and recreation association, family social workers, public health officers, federal research men, librarians and specialists in each of the lines taken up in the survey.

Daniel Makarenko makes a stately and imperial Russian general. The story is from Alexander Brody's successful Viennese stage play, "Lea Lyon." The story takes place in Galicia near the Russian border.

IT ALL STARTS IN CONEY ISLAND

Coney Island, the playground of New York's five million, plays an important part in "The Big Noise," First National's Picture which will be shown at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday.

All the glamour and color of the famous carnival of fun is brought to the screen and presents a vivid contrast to the scenes showing New York's lower East Side where much of the action in the picture takes place.

"The Big Noise" was written for First National Pictures by Don Hecht and centers around the power of the sensational American newspaper in making and breaking reputation overnight.

Chester Conklin plays the featured role in the production which was directed by Allan Dwan. The supporting cast includes Alice White, Sam Hardy, David Torrence, Billie Rosina, Jack Egan and many others.

SCREEN TURNS TO AN ANCIENT LEGEND FOR MODERN QUIPS

For the first time since the movies were invented, ancient mythology provides screen material in "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," the big First National Production which opens at the Elite Theatre, Monday.

Based on John Erskine's brilliant comedy of the same name, the picture promises to be the most unusual release of the year.

Maria Corda, Lewis Stone and Ricardo Cortez head the cast. Alexander Korda directed and Carey Wilson produced the story for First National Pictures.

IGHT BETWEEN TWO MILLIONAIRES RAGES IN POLITICAL FEUD

Senator Couzens of Michigan Making New Attack on Andrew Mellon

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—The two wealthiest multi-millionaires in the United States government are at grips in the bittensest feud existent in national politics. The feud, as everyone knew, wasn't over, but the biting and snarling had stopped. The two multi-millionaires had occasional social contact quite undisputed by them and acted politely toward each other.

But things finally began to break
badly for Mellon, and then Couzens had his chance to spring. Mellon had contributed largely to the "Pepper slush fund" in Pennsylvania and defended his contribution as like most made to the church. Vane was kicked from the Senate door for spending less than Pepper. Then Mellon's Phil-burg Coal Company aroused senatorial resentment by its policies.

MELLON MADE ADMISSION
Finally, the climax came when Mellon had to admit that Will Hays had wanted him to take $50,000 of Hays
Simon's tainted Liberty bond campaign fund and, although he declined to do so, had remained silent while his department was allegedly trying to help trace the bonds. Mr. Mellon's pedestal was lowered and he lost some of the esteem in which he had been held.

So Couzens again leaped, charging Mellon with being responsible for a corruption in his own department and with being an accessory to it. He charged that Mellon, he
concerned in business, was incompetent to hold his secretaryship under federal law.

RIPON SINGERS AGAIN HEADED BY CHAMBERLAIN

HAROLD CHAMBERLAIN
The Ripon glee club, which will be heard at the Congregational church Sunday evening, April 1, is again under the direction of Harold Chamberlain, director of the college school of music. The present season is the fourth in which Mr. Chamberlain has had charge of the club.

Aside from directing the club of 25 singers, Mr. Chamberlain sings second tenor in the club quartet. He stated his study of music under the direction of his father, one time head of Oberlin conservatory of music. He was soloist with the Oberlin glee club when that organization won national fame. Since then, he has studied with Frederic Grueger and Eldorado Sacerdote, who was assistant conductor of the Chicago Opera company and whom Mme.
Mellba once declared was the world's greatest teacher. His most recent study has been at Northwestern University under Walter Allen Stuts.

Other members of the glee club quartet beside Mr. Chamberlain are James Gilruth, Carleton Lucke and Charles Brown. Joseph Laska is violinist. Alvin Brooks, pianist and Lawrence Buckland, cornetist.

Couzens when he sold his Ford stock.
The case was supposed to have been closed. Couzens was advised that the suit was coming and construed this as an attempt to blackmail him, so did some other senators. The suit is still in progress. Couzens referred to it once when he said, "I don't give a damn about the ten million, but I don't want to lose."

LOST HIS CASE
Bene, a poor speaker, he failed to win Mellon. No one paid a great deal of attention to him. Mellon, often called "the greatest treasury secretary since Alexander Hamilton" was high-on his pedestal, lofty in the esteem of the press and most of the public.

After that Couzens ceased firing.
The feud, as everyone knew, wasn't over, but the biting and snarling had stopped. The two multi-millionaires had occasional social contact quite undisputed by them and acted politely
toward each other.

But things finally began to break
badly for Mellon, and then Couzens had his chance to spring. Mellon had contributed largely to the "Pepper
slush fund" in Pennsylvania and defended his contribution as like most made to the church. Vane was kicked from the Senate door for spending
less than Pepper. Then Mellon's Phil-
burg Coal Company aroused senatorial
resentment by its policies.

MELLON MADE ADMISSION
Finally, the climax came when Mellon had to admit that Will Hays had wanted him to take $50,000 of Hays
Simon's tainted Liberty bond campaign fund and, although he declined to do so, had remained silent while his department was allegedly trying to help trace the bonds. Mr. Mellon's pedestal was lowered and he lost some of the esteem in which he had been held.

So Couzens again leaped, charging Mellon with being responsible for a corruption in his own department and
with being an accessory to it. He charged that Mellon, he
concerned in business, was incompetent to hold his secretaryship under federal law.

FOR NEURALGIA

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in a Bayer Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache; an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pain from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin;
it does NOT affect the heart
Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocetatechloride of Salicylic acid

NOT READY TO BUY NEW FIRE APPARATUS

City Council Fire and Water
Committee Want Needs
Definitely Determined

The city of Appleton will not buy new fire equipment until the needs of the city are definitely determined and the merits of the various pieces of the apparatus considered. The city council fire and water committee has deferred action on the matter until a later date.

Several members of the committee are not satisfied with the trucks recommended or with the suggestion of placing a pumping unit on the old hook truck now used by the department. It was pointed out that the hook truck is old and the engine almost obsolete and that a pumping unit placed on it would probably be a poor investment.

The committee also is of the opinion that the steam engine in the hook should not be relegated to the garage and kept in storage but should be put in good condition and tested out regularly to see that it is available if needed. Suggestion also

FOOTBALL LIKE WAR IN AFRICAN TOWN

Tunis—(AP)—Stones, guns and razors play their parts in football in Tunisia.
Sporting excitement became so intense during a recent match here that when the whistle ended the game with the score 3 to 3, rioters on both sides charged in battle array. Stones were the favorite missiles but five revolvers were fired and two rioters marked victims.

has been made that some means of transporting it to facts be made without using one of the motor trucks.

DIALS DIFFER ON REFFKE STATUS

Attorney Says He Can Win Only One Salary if He Is Two Jobs

ns of city officials appear to be the question of whether Richard, candidate for alderman of Sixth ward can draw a salary as city official and also as a junior high school, the position holds. City Attorney Al-lister has given the opinion that, if elected, can hold both but can draw only the salary of one.

Williams, city clerk, when asked the matter said that he is given to understand that could hold both positions and draw both salaries. It was his contention that the school board and its employee a group distinct and from the administrative department of the city.
He said that if Reffke is elected he will be the salary of alderman and also as a junior high school teacher. The city attorney suggested the best way to get court's opinion on the matter would be to ask a city clerk to pay the and Mr. Reffke start proceeding for payment.

Detroit Expects To Be Up There If Yanks Slump

BY WERNER LAUFER
San Antonio, Tex.—The pennant is in the air in the camp of the Detroit Tigers down San Antonio way. Of course, pennant bees that buzz in the training camps are not always taken seriously by the other clubs in the league. Nevertheless Manager George Moriarty and his entire camp have dreams of being in the heavy end of the money next world series time.

There is one condition to this fanciful hope. The New York Yankees must succumb to the law of averages that says one team cannot gobble all of the glory every year. Once every so often even the mightiest of champions must take it on the chin.

A little let up in the Yankees' pitching or a slump in the batting of Messis, Ruth and Gehrig would just about turn the trick for the Bengals, figures the Tiger board of strategy.

Twenty per cent improvement in all-around effectiveness is looked for in 1928 by the Tiger losses. Discounting another string of ill luck as suffered last year, the team should be in the running from the very start.

Harry Rice and Elam Van Gilder, teamed in trade with the Browns for Blue and Manush constitute the brain part of the improvement.

"Throwing weakness in the outfield was our biggest handicap last summer," says Head Coach Albert "Lefty" Leifield, "and with Rice in center field the boys won't be taking that extra base on every hit. Think what this will mean to our pitchers."

"A weak throwing outfield can make the best pitching staff look bad," laments the congenial Lefty. "I, your gardeners can't keep a runner from taking that extra base, what chance has the pitcher to be helped by the double play that often results when a runner is kept on first base?"

"And another thing. When we hit that losing slump last season, 19 out of 22 games were dropped after the seventh inning. That's where Elam Van Gilder, the relief pitcher, comes in."

So there you have the basis on which the pennant bee is buzzing. Other things that helped put the team in its present optimistic mood are the great improvement shown by many of the youngsters coming back to the majors after a year or two in the minors and the general fine physical condition of the team.

The pitchers have had plenty of work to get them in shape and Moriarty is counting on these fellows to get the team away to a good start.

Whitehill, Stoner, Carroll, Gibson and Holloway again should be first stringers, with Haskell Billings, who astounded the fans with his great work late last season after coming direct from Brown University, figuring to be one of the best young pitchers in the league.

If early spring form counts for anything, this spectacled lad should graduate into a regular first full year in the big show. In a recent exhibition with the Minneapolis American Association club, Billings, called into the fray in the ninth inning, proceeded to fan three Miller batters in a row. That is just a rough idea how good he looks in pre-season battles.

Vic Sorrell and Carl Hubbell are two other pitchers who have found a way into the heart of Moriarty by nice exhibitions turned in on the training battlefields.

The infield has been greatly strengthened by reserve material and should rank close to the best in the league. Neun has first base safely tucked away, while Gehring is a fixture at second base. Jackie Tavener's finger is as good as ever and therefore Jackie will get the call at short. Marty McManus is leading for the third base assignment, but it will mean a fight for Marty to remain there.

Frank Emmer, once a Cincinnati

PLEASED WITH GIANTS

You'd never think from this photograph of Manager John McGraw, left, and Captain Travis Jackson that the 1928 Giants were giving them any cause for worry. In fact, McGraw and Jackson admit no worries. The Giants will be forced to struggle along minus Rogers Hornsby, who was traded to Boston but the bosses think Andy Cohen can play second base satisfactorily and that Catcher Frank Hogan will be a big favorite with the fans. And why worry—when the club looks to be a good bet in the pennant race?

Norway became independent in 1905 Prince Charles of Denmark was elected king with the name of Haakon VII.

ATWATER KENT

Modern Electric!

In more than 100,000 homes since January 1

JUST a few weeks ago we announced a radical advance in radio—a self-contained electric set reduced to its essentials.

Just a few weeks ago—but already this new A. C. set has broken all sales records. Already this new set is thrilling listeners in more than 100,000 homes—this is in addition to the 1,400,000 other Atwater Kent sets which are in operation.

Every day more and more families are finding out what it means to explore the airways with the help of a perfected instrument that requires no attention whatever except turning it on and off.

One person hears the Atwater Kent 37 in another's home, and thus its reputation spreads.

Judge it by what it does—

At an Atwater Kent dealer's—or better still, in your own home—snap the switch that brings the power from the house-lighting circuit to the A. C. tubes. Turn the FULL-VISION Dial and see how unhesitatingly the broadcasting stations answer your call.

Model E Radio Speaker $24

Radio's truest voice. All parts protected against moisture. Comes in a variety of beautiful color combinations.

Model 37 The astonishing price of the new, six-tube, FULL-VISION Dial, self-contained A. C. set includes everything except tubes and a speaker. No power accessories required—no batteries, no charger. For use with 110-115 volt, 60-cycle, Alternating Current. Uses six A. C. amplifying tubes, and one rectifying tube.

$88 without tubes

Select your station—it's there, it's clear. Listen. Your neighbor may have told you that the tone quality of this new A. C. set is the best he ever heard. That's all right, but what do you think? And remember, as you get the "feel" of this set, as you find out how true-toned, how selective, how simple it is—how easy to operate—remember that what it gives you it will continue to give you. For socket power does not run down—and the set does not deteriorate. It is made to last—every set factory-tested or inspected 222 times.

—and how it looks

You're going to have your radio a long time. You're going to live with it. With this in mind, we have given particular attention to the lines and finish of this set, as well as to its internal design. The result is a cabinet of astonishing compactness, easy to place anywhere, and of extremely pleasing appearance. The finish—a satiny effect in your choice of two color combinations—is entirely new.

—and what it costs

That an A. C. set which so proudly meets every possible test should cost so little is surprising only to those who are not acquainted with the resources and methods of the manufacturer.

If you must use batteries

MODEL 33 is an extra-powerful, extra selective battery set. Designed for use where unusual results are necessary but A. C. electricity is not available. FULL-VISION Dial. Solid mahogany cabinet. Six tubes required. Price, without accessories, $75.

Also Model 35. Shielded cabinet. Six tubes required. Price, without accessories, $49.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F. X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County
MARGARET ODELL, THE "CANARY"
CHARLES CLEAVER, A man about town
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. ANDRUS, a fashionable "urologist"
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Squad

THE STORY THUS FAR
The jewel case in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell had been opened with a steel chisel after a futile battering with a poker. This leads Vance to the theory that Skeel did not commit murder, even though his finger-prints were found, but was hidden in the clothes closet while the girl was strangled by someone else. Vance traces a picture to Alys La Fosse, who informs him that Louis Mannix was in her apartment from ten-thirty of the evening of the murder until two in the morning. Vance also learns something that makes him question Cleaver's ability.

CHAPTER XXIX
"What about the summons for speeding?" Markham asked.
"That's for you to explain," said Vance. "But if you'll take my advice you'll send for this Boonton catch-pole, and let him have a look at Pop. If he says Cleaver is the man he tickled, I'll humbly do away with myself."
"Well! That makes it worth trying. I'll have the officer at the Stevens Club this afternoon, and I'll point out Cleaver to him. What other staggering revelations have you in store?"
"Mannix will bear looking into."
Markham put down his knife and fork and leaned back.
"I'm overcome! Such Himalayan sagacity! With that evidence against him, he should be arrested at once."
"Vance, my dear old friend, are you feeling quite normal? No dizzy spells lately? No shooting pains in the head? Knee-jerks all right?"
"Furthermore, Doctor Lindquist was widely infatuated with the Canary, and insanely jealous. Recently threatened to take a pistol and hold a little program of his own."
"That's better," Markham sat up. "Where did you get this information?"
"Ah! That's my secret."
Markham was annoyed.
"Why so mysterious?"
"Needs must, old chap. Gave my word, and all that sort of thing. And I'm a bit quizzical don't you know—too much Cervantes in my youth." He spoke lightly, but Markham knew him too well to push the question.
In less than five minutes after he had returned to the district attorney's office Heath came in.
"I got something else on Mannix, sir; thought you might want to add it to the report I turned in yesterday. Burke secured a picture of him, and showed it to the phone operators at Odell's house. Both of 'em recognized it. He's been there several times, but it wasn't the Canary he called on. It was the woman in Apartment 2. She's named Fisher, and used to be one of Mannix's fur models. He's been to see her several times during the past six months, and has taken her out once or twice; but he hasn't called on her for a month or more."
"Any good?"
"Can't tell," Markham shot Vance an inquisitive look. "But thanks for the information, Sergeant."
"By the bye," said Vance dulcetly, when Heath had left us, "I'm feeling top-hole. No pains the head; no dizzy spells. Knee-jerks perfect."
"Delighted. Still, I can't charge a man with murder because he calls on his fur model."
"You're so hasty! Why should you charge him with murder?" Vance rose and yawned. "Come, Van, I'd rather like to gaze on Fernch's tush at the Metropolitan this afternoon. Could you bear it?" At the door he paused. "I say, Markham, what about the Boonton ball?"
Markham rang for Swacker.
"I'll see to it at once. Drop in at the club around five, if you feel like it. I'll have the officer there then. Cleaver is sure to come in before then."
When Vance and I returned to the club late that afternoon, Markham was stationed in the lounge-room facing the main door of the rotunda and beside him sat a tall, heavy-set, bronzed man of about forty, alert but ill at ease.
"Traffic Officer Phipps arrived from Boonton a little while ago," said Markham, by way of introduction. "Cleaver is expected at any moment now. He has an appointment here at half past five."
Vance drew up a chair.
"I do hope he's a punctual beggar."
"So do I," returned Markham victoriously.
Less than ten minutes later Cleaver entered the rotunda from the street, paused at the desk, and sauntered into the lounge-room. There was no escaping the observation point Markham had chosen; and as he paused and exchanged greetings Markham detained him a moment with a few casual questions; and Cleaver passed on.

"That the man you tickled, officer?" asked Markham, turning to Phipps.
Phipps was scowling perplexedly.
"It looks something like him, sir, there's a kind of resemblance, but it ain't him." He shook his head. "No, sir, it ain't him. The fellow I hung at suspicion was a younger than this gent, and wasn't as tall."
"You're positive?"
"Yes, sir—no mistake. The guy I tagged tried to argue with me, and then he tried to slip me a river to forget it. I had my headlight on him till."
Phipps was dismissed with a substantial fee.
Vance sighed. "My worthless existence is to be prolonged. Sad. But you must try to bear it. . . . I say, Markham, what does Pop Cleaver's brother look like?"

"That's it," nodded Markham. "I've got his brother; he's shorter and stouter. I think I'll have it out with Cleaver now."
He started to rise, but Vance forced him back to his seat.
"Don't be impetuous. Cultivate patience. Cleaver's not going to do a bunk; and there are one or two preliminary steps strongly indicated. Mannix and Lindquist still seduce my curiosity."
Markham clung to his point.
"Neither Mannix nor Lindquist is here now, and Cleaver is. And I want to know why he lied to me about that summons."
"I can tell you that," said Vance. "He wanted you to think he was in the wilds of New Jersey at midnight Monday—Simple, what?"
"The inference is a credit to your intelligence! But I hope you don't seriously think that Cleaver is guilty. It's possible he knows something; but I certainly cannot picture him as a strangler."
"And why?"
"He's not the type. It's inconceivable—even if there were evidence against him."
"Ah! The psychological judgment! You eliminate Cleaver because you don't think his nature harmonizes with the situation. I say, doesn't that come perilously near being an esoteric hypothesis—or a metaphysical deduction?"

"However, I don't entirely agree with you in your application of the theory to Cleaver. That fish-eyed gambler has unsuspected potentialities for evil. But with the theory itself I am wholly in accord. And behold, my dear Markham: you yourself apply psychology in its abecedarian implications, yet ridicule my application. Consistency may be the hobgoblin of little minds, y' know, but it's none the less a priceless jewel. . . . How about a cup of tea?"
We sought the Palm Room, and sat down at a table near the entrance. Vance ordered oolong tea, but Markham and I took black coffee. A very capable four-piece orchestra was playing, and we sat without restfully in comfortable chairs without speaking. Markham was tired and dispirited, and Vance was busy with the problem that had absorbed him continuously since Tuesday morning. Never before had I seen him so preoccupied. We had been there perhaps half an hour when Spotswoode strolled in. He stopped and spoke, and Markham asked him to join us. He, too, appeared depressed, and his eyes showed signs of worry.

"I hardly dare ask you, Mr. Markham," he said diffidently, after he had ordered a ginger ale, "but how do my chances stand now of being called as a witness?"
"That fate is certainly no nearer than when I last saw you," Markham replied. "In fact, nothing has happened to change the situation materially."
"And the man you had under suspicion?"
"He's still under suspicion, but no arrest has been made. We're hoping, however, that something will break before long."

"And I suppose you still want me to remain in the city?"
"If you can arrange it—yes."
Spotswoode was silent for a time; then he said:
"I don't want to appear to shirk any responsibility—and perhaps it may seem wholly selfish for me even to suggest it—but, in any event, wouldn't the testimony of the telephone operator as to the hour of Miss Odell's return and her calls for help be sufficient to establish the facts, without my corroboration?"
"I have thought of that, of course; and if it is at all possible to prepare the case for the prosecution without summoning you to appear, I assure you it will be done. At the moment, I can see no necessity of your being called as a witness. But one never knows what may turn up. If the defense hinges on a question of exact time, and the operator's testimony is questioned or disqualified for any reason, you may be required to come forward. Otherwise not."
Spotswoode sipped his gingerale. A little of his depression seemed to have departed.
"You're very generous, Mr. Markham. I wish there was some adequate way of thanking you." He looked up hesitatingly. "I presume you are still opposed to my visiting the apartment. . . . I know you think me unreasonable and perhaps sentimental; but the girl represented something in my life that I find very hard to tear out. I don't expect you to understand it—I hardly understand it myself."
. . . . . (To Be Continued) . . . . .

Buy Your Coffee Fresh — Not Canned

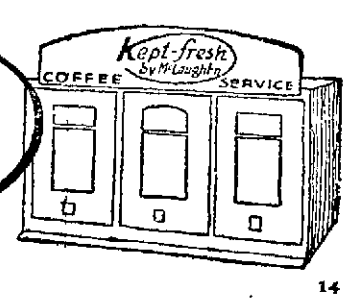

During the hard, sunless winter months you may have to be satisfied with canned corn, canned spinach and various other canned vegetables and fruits.

But if you trade at the Appleton Service Stores you will never have to put up with canned coffee. They have seen to that for you by installing the "Kept-fresh by McLaughlin" Coffee Service.

Step into any one of their stores and sniff the fragrance that comes from their FRESH coffee, newly ground. Then you will realize, perhaps for the first time, what FRESHNESS in coffee means.

"99 1/2" — one popular "Kept-fresh by McLaughlin" blend sells for 49c lb.

The Man With The Cigar Lighter

Ever notice?—He's always making excuses for his cigar lighter. For instance if it doesn't light the first time, and he continues until his thumb is almost wore out saying—"Must have poor gas in it—Guess the flints wore out—Maybe the wick is low—Or perhaps the wind is too strong"—Anyhow he's sure to have a million and one excuses. Never any need to make "excuses" for Voecks meat because there's never an occasion. Voecks selected meats and poultry are always the best and of unquestionable quality.

Beauty that lasts—natural beauty—depends above all else upon frequent pore-cleansing baths.

For the very reason that it is made primarily for the complexion—that's why smart women everywhere prefer and use no other soap than Jap Rose for bathing as well as shampooing.

Rich in glycerine and delicately scented, the bubbly, tingling lather of this pure, transparent soap cleanses clogged pores full depth, leaving the skin soft, clear, radiant—the hair clean, lustrous, invigorated.

Book Of Knowledge

Drake's Persistence

Things did not go smoothly for Edwin Drake when he left the railway service where he had been a conductor, to drill for oil. He started operations in a field unknown to him, in Titusville, Pa., in 1848. Tools were hard to get and work was delayed until 1859. A tube was driven down to rock and workmen began to drill, making about three feet a day.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

Money was scarce and several times Drake feared he would have to abandon the work. He borrowed the money and carried on.

On Aug. 28, 1859, just before quitting time, the drill moved easily. Sunday a workman visited the well and found it full of oil.

A pump was attached next day and the well was found to yield 20 barrels of oil a day. The whole region went wild. Every foot of land along the creek was bought or leased and wells were sunk in every direction. Many grew rich almost at once. But Drake, who did not try to buy or lease other land, died poor where others gained millions by his discovery.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

TOWNSHIGH OFFICIALS OF RAILROAD TALK AT SAFETY MEETINGNorthwestern Chorus and Movies Provide Entertainment
at Rally

Kaukauna—Several hundred persons will attend the safety rally to be held at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the opinion of local railroad officials. The meeting is being sponsored by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and is held annually for employees of the road, their families and friends and everybody interested in accident prevention. Friday afternoon foreman and department supervisors of the Ashland and Lake Shore divisions met to discuss railroad safety problems.

At the Friday evening meeting Frank Wintner, Jr., general agent of the Northwestern, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be S. Gaulty, assistant claim agent; Mayor W. C. Sullivan, R. M. Radisch and the Rev. T. Parker Hillborne of Brook Memorial Methodist church. John Leppa, superintendent of the Ashland division, will be chairman.

Two safety films will be shown. One will be "Resuscitation," a motion picture belonging to the Wisconsin Industrial commission and the other is "The Handicap."

The Northwestern chorus of thirty voices will sing several numbers including "Bring To Me Only With Thine Eyes," (Johnson), "Love's Old Sweet Song," (Malloy), "My Sunshine" (Capua) and "Soldier's Chorus" from Faust, (Gounod). Music will be presented by the Northwestern band of sixty pieces. Many of these organizations are from Kaukauna.

This rally will be the last one on the system this year. Last year Kaukauna had the largest attendance of any held on the Ashland division but reports from Ashland show an attendance there of 800 with 1500 at Ironwood and 1800 at Antigo. At the most the local auditorium will only seat 600. O. A. Fiedler, and W. J. Biebler have been in charge of local arrangements.

SATURDAY CLOSING
AGITATES MERCHANTSA day a cement Association Studies Proposal to Keep Stores Open Friday Evenings

Kaukauna—Business men here are debating whether business houses of the city should close Saturday nights and remain open Friday evenings.

Those who favor the change claim that the weekend is spoiled for the clerks who are forced to work Saturday evenings. After work they are tired and if they wish to make a trip they must leave early Sunday morning but by the time they have reached their destination most of the day is gone. Opening Friday nights would permit the clerks to leave after work Saturday afternoon and return Sunday evening.

That this would hurt business the other side points out, because now most of the laboring people leave Saturday afternoons off and this gives them ample time to change clothes and dress up for the evening whereas on Friday night they would have to hurry down directly from work. The matter has been placed before the Kaukauna Advancement Association and an investigation will be made.

CITY ATTORNEY TALKS
AT MEETING OF WOMEN

Kaukauna—Joseph Lafave, city attorney, spoke on Property Laws Governing Women at a meeting of the Kaukauna Women's club Tuesday afternoon in the public library building. Thrift and Small Investments was discussed by C. D. Townsley, cashier of the Bank of Kaukauna. Miss Beryl Hilborne sang several selections, accompanied by Miss Mabel Look. Roll call was answered by current events.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK
ON APPRENTICESHIP

Kaukauna—H. C. Thayer, supervisor of teacher training of the state department of vocational education, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon in the Legion building. His subject was Apprenticeship. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to routine business.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Phillip Gaudette and J. Leppa of Antigo spent Friday in Kaukauna on business.

Mrs. William Miller is spending a few days in Milwaukee with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Saunders of Milwaukee motored to Kaukauna Friday to spend the weekend.

ANDREWS OILS TIGHTEN
GRIP ON LEAGUE LEAD

Kaukauna—Andrews' Oils took a strong hold on first place in the Kaukauna Business Men's league on Thursday evening by winning three straight from the Kaukauna Lumber Co. The Bakers were handed a 3 to 0 licking by the lowly Molochs and the Electricians won 2 to 1 from the Bankers. The Oils now have a full three game advantage over the Bakers and Bakers. Moloch's win was a complete surprise and the cellar occupants are but one game behind the Lumbermen.

W. Sager rolled a high single game of 286, 60 pins more than the next closest man shot, W. Johnson who hit the maples for 223. Sager was also high in three game totals with 622. William Johnson rolled 556.

Kaukauna's Credit Will Not Be Jeopardized

Kaukauna—The city has not exceeded its bonding limit, the board of education has reported in a discussion of the proposal to bond the city for $80,000 to build an addition to the high school.

A report shows the limit to be $100,000 on a valuation of $8,000,000 for civic improvements and at present the outstanding bonds are $315,000 or $55,000 below the local limit. Then, too, an equal amount could be raised for school purposes so that the city of Kaukauna is bonded for less than 50 per cent of its possible limit. Present outstanding bonds are divided as follows: High school, $155,000; bridge, $100,000; water works, $25,000; electrical department, $22,000; sewer districts, $8,000 and parks $5,000. In 1927 $25,000 worth of bonds were retired and it is expected that a similar amount will be retired in 1928.

Each year it has been necessary for the city to borrow $50,000 from the banks to pay current expenses. Some people have believed that the banks would not loan the city this money if it was bonded for an additional $80,000. Figures compiled by the board show that about $25,000 in bonds will be retired this year and this added to the $85,000, which the city may still bond for civic improvements, would make a total of $110,000 of which $60,000 could be used for the new auditorium and gymnasium bonds and a balance of $50,000 would be left for emergencies.

The bonds would run for 12 years at 5 per cent interest and would be retired at the rate of $5,000 per year. Joseph Lafave, city attorney, is authority for a statement that the increased bonded indebtedness would not increase the taxes of the city.

People who are of the opinion that the auditorium and gymnasium cannot be built for $80,000 are assured by L. F. Nelson, president of the board of education, that the board will not authorize the completion of the building if it will cost more than that amount.

Posters urging the people to vote in favor of the bond issue have been placed in every business place in the city. Literature showing the need of the completed building has been printed by the high school students and is being taken to every home in the city.

NOT SCARED

While Senator Charles S. Denen was on his way to Washington, after attending the funeral of a murdered ward leader in Chicago, his home was bombed, but that doesn't frighten the senator. He will return to Chicago to renew his fight on the Thompson-Crowe organization. This picture was taken the other day at his desk in Washington.

STOOD BY NOON GUNS
WHEN TOKIO ROCKED

Toyko—(AP)—Every day, at the top of Mogji Hill, in the Imperial Palace grounds, a small antiquated cannon booms the noon hour and Japanese, as well as foreigners, always set their clocks and watches accordingly. Recently the man who fired this gun died.

For seven years, without missing a day, without holidays or vacation, rain or shine, he was at his post and had never deviated a second from the correct time in announcing the noon hour.

HE ISN'T
CONSTIPATED
ANY MOREThanks to Kellogg's wonderful ALL-BRAN

Mr. Grinslade wrote, of his own accord, to tell us how much he valued ALL-BRAN in relieving constipation.

"Just a few words to let the country know what Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has done for me. I was constipated for years until I went to eating your ALL-BRAN. I am now rid of constipation and it is all due to the use of your product, and I will recommend it to anyone that is bothered with constipation."

Yours truly,
H. M. GRINSLADE,
1109 Locust Ave., Los Angeles

Constipation is a dreadful thing. It undermines health. It steals happiness. Throbbing heads, aching backs, spots before the eyes, bad complexion are just a few of its telltale symptoms.

Don't let it get in its deadly work on you. Protect yourself now. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a cereal designed to prevent and relieve constipation. A health cereal. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Delicious with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Eat two tablespoons daily in chronic cases, with every meal. Use in cooking. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Know what Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has done for me. I was constipated for years until I went to eating your ALL-BRAN. I am now rid of constipation and it is all due to the use of your product, and I will recommend it to anyone that is bothered with constipation."

BIG STILL SEIZED BY RAIDERS HAULED TO COURTHOUSE HERE

County Deputies Work All Night Tearing Liquor Plant Out of Bovina House

More than 100 persons visited the wreckage early Friday morning to get a glimpse of the remains of the huge still confiscated by Sheriff Otto Zuehlke following a raid on the Ray Spear farm a mile west of Shiocton Wednesday afternoon.

Spear pleaded guilty in municipal court Thursday of violating the liquor laws and was fined $500 and costs totaling $71, with a 30-day jail term.

After the raid Wednesday afternoon by sheriff's deputies and state prohibition officers, three men worked late Wednesday night dismantling the outfit, the largest ever found in Outagamie-co.

Many hours were spent by the wrecking squad before the still, extending from the basement to the attic, was taken apart. Several pieces of the equipment were so large they had to be taken apart before they could be taken out the doors.

The huge copper tanks, the steam boiler, coolers, pipe lines, mixing tanks, curing barrels and tin containers were loaded on flat trucks and taken to the county jail late Thursday afternoon.

The still had a capacity of 200 gallons of alcohol per day according to state dry officers, who said it was one of the finest distilling outfits they have ever seen.

Sheriff Zuehlke said Friday the equipment would be smashed after a few days and sold for junk. The proceeds of the sale will be turned over to the county treasurer.

KIMBERLY MAN HELD ON PERJURY CHARGE

District Attorney Says Alex Malcolm Didn't Tell Truth at Court Hearing

Alex Malcolm, Kimberly, was arrested Friday morning on a charge of perjury and his preliminary hearing was set for 9 o'clock Monday morning by Judge Theodore Berg following his arraignment in municipal court.

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf charges the Kimberly man made false statements at his preliminary hearing on March 7 in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg.

Malcolm was arrested with Norbert Wydeven, another Kimberly youth, on complaint of the father of a 16-year old Grand Chute girl. Wydeven pleaded guilty Wednesday, and was sentenced to from one to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay.

The charge against Malcolm, however, was dismissed when he told the judge he had not been with Wydeven on the night of Feb. 25, when the assault occurred and Judge Berg ruled that he was not at the scene of the alleged assault.

Wydeven, however, insisted Malcolm was wrong. The girl was unable to identify Malcolm but Mr. Lonsdorf said Friday sufficient new evidence had been uncovered to warrant holding Malcolm for perjury.

DEATHS

G. P. GERMANSEN, 65, father of Rudolph Gersmann, 53 N. Drew-st., died Thursday at his home in Peshigo following illness with influenza and pneumonia. He was born at Port Washington in 1862, married to Neenah where his marriage took place. He lived in Little Chute for 18 years and then moved to Escanaba, Mich., and later to Peshigo, where he became master mechanic for the Peshigo Paper company. He served as president of Little Chute for several years.

He is survived by his widow; and by two sons, Rudolph of Appleton, and Harvey of Escanaba, Mich. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning from the home. Burial will be at 3 o'clock in Oak hill cemetery, Neenah.

GEORGE GAINOR, 45, died Thursday morning at Milwaukee. The body will be taken to the home for burial Friday. The survivors are two sons, Harold and Earl; four sisters, Mrs. Paul Schroeder of Appleton; Mrs. Edward Weyenberg of Milwaukee; Mrs. Alois Hartel of Seymour and Mrs. George Verkuilen of North Dakota; two brothers, Joseph of Mackville and Victor of Seymour.

ELMER G. FULLER, 68, died at 9:30 Thursday morning at his home, 531 N. Bateman-st. Mr. Fuller moved from Brillion to Appleton about four years ago. He was a member of the Kewanee Order of Owl, Fellows, and also of the Appleton encampment.

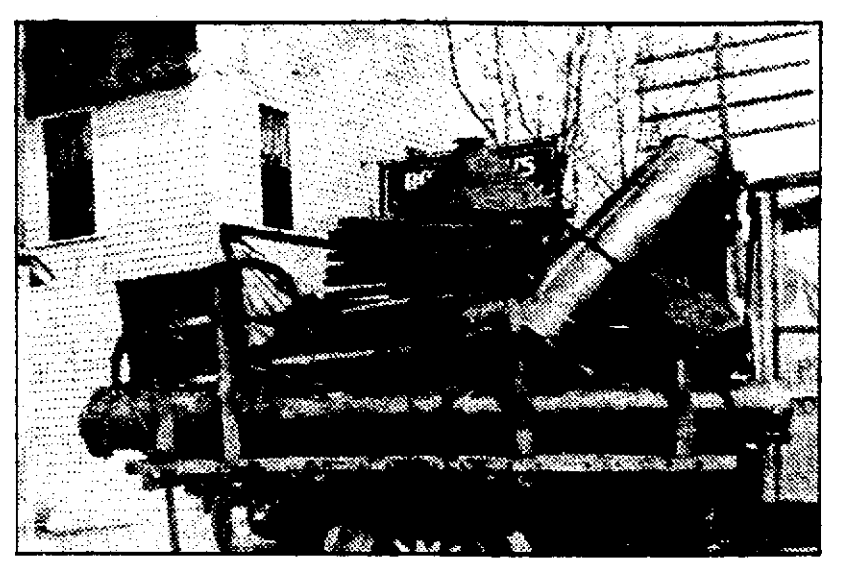

He is survived by his widow; and two sons, Dudley and Harold, both of Appleton. Funeral services will be held at 12 o'clock noon Monday from the late home with Dr. J. A. Holmes in charge. Interment will be at Brillion when the Owl Fellows will conduct services.

LAY CEMENT FLOOR IN ARMORY BASEMENT

Laying of a cement floor in the basement of Armory G was completed Thursday and as soon as it has set, work will be started rearranging the supply rooms of the local machine supply company. The lockers and supply rooms, which have been located on the main floor of the building and in several other rooms in the front of the structure will be moved downstairs. One of the old store rooms will be fixed up as a club room for boy scouts, members of the American legion troop, who have their headquarters at the armory.

Miss Ruth McKennan will spend a week in Chicago at the home of her sister.

Post-Crescent photo. Here is a picture of a part of the remains of the largest still ever raided in Outagamie-co., found on the Ray Spear farm, near Shiocton, by dry agents Wednesday afternoon. The plant was wrecked and has been taken to the county jail where it will be smashed and sold for junk. In the foreground is the 30-foot copper pipe line and cooling lines while in the background is the 200-gallon copper mash kettle.

NAME AIRPORT FOR GEORGE A. WHITING

Valley Philanthropist Is First Known Airplane Passenger in States

The airport located between here and Menasha on Highway 41 will be known as George A. Whiting Airport, it was announced by officers of the North American Airways company Friday following a conference between Mr. Whiting, Judge Edgar V. Werner, Dr. J. A. Holmes and the Rev. C. W. Boag, Green Bay.

The decision to name the field for Mr. Whiting was made because of his philanthropies in the Fox River valley and because he is the first airplane passenger known in the state, having taken a ride in 1911.

Whiting field, Lawrence College was named for him and a short time ago he donated a beautiful golf course to the city of Appleton. He is president of the George A. Whiting Paper company, Menasha, and the Whiting-Pleaver Paper company of Stevens Point.

In announcing the name of the airport, Kay M. Haugen, president of the Airways company, said "I know of no better name for the new field. We want the public to bear in mind that this is a community project and is for use by all three cities. Mr. Whiting has consented to have the field named for him and we are proud to have the name of such a man linked with our enterprise."

EMPLOY ENGINEER TO SURVEY SET BACK LINES

An engineer is to be employed to make a survey of county roads and provide setback lines to be established under the proposed county zoning ordinance, it was decided at a special meeting of the zoning committee Wednesday night at the office of John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney. Members of the committee are: Supervisors William Tate, Deor Creek; John Graefmeier, Buchanan; A. W. Laabs, Grand Chute, and P. D. Zochell, Black Creek.

The engineer also will be instructed to prepare a map of the county showing the set back lines for the various roads and the proposed zone districts as provided in the zoning ordinance. The maps will be presented at the April session of the county board which starts April 17.

WANT MEATING'S VIEW ON DISCUSSION POINTS

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, Thursday received a letter from John Cullahan, state superintendent of public instruction, asking for ideas on program discussion points for the annual conference of superintendents. The conference will be held this year at West Allis on Aug. 27. Notice of the meeting was set to superintendents that they might arrange to attend.

BOY SCOUT TROOP TO HIKE SATURDAY

Members of Boy Scout Troop 4, American legion troop, will go on a hike Saturday afternoon, it was decided at a meeting of the boys Thursday evening at the armory. The hike will begin at 1:30 and will be under the direction of Cloyd Schroeder, scoutmaster. The boys probably will be taken to the scout camp on Lake Winnebago for the afternoon's outing.

DISMISS THEFT CHARGE AGAINST ONEIDA INDIAN

A charge of larceny against Gilliam Doxater, an Oneida Indian, was nipped in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Friday morning and the Indian was dismissed. District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf told Judge Berg there wasn't sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction. Doxater was arrested several months ago at the Keshona Indian reservation on complaint of Henry Giese. He charged Doxater stole his automobile.

HUNDREDS ATTEND V. R. RULE FUNERAL

Police Detail Required to Control Traffic Near Church and on Funeral Route

Friends of the late Vernon R. Rule filled First Congregational church here Thursday afternoon when funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Dr. H. E. Peabody. Hundreds of the former sheriff's friends passed before his bier in the church prior to the services.

One of the longest funeral corteges in the history of the city followed the hearse to Riverside cemetery. Police were detailed to control the traffic at the church and one the route to the cemetery. Cars formed an unbroken line from the cemetery gates to the intersection N. Rankin-st and E. College-ave.

The bearers were John Behnke, Charles Hopfensperger, Anton Steffen, Joseph Fisk, Roy Myse and Arthur Jones.

Persons from out of the city at the funeral included Joseph Moffet, Mr. and Mrs. G. Walker, Milwaukee; H. C. Ruseh and Arthur Jensen, Oshkosh; George Kolobchinski, William Miller, Herman Holz, T. H. Firestone, M. Finerty, J. Guertz, C. Nack, E. Hanson, G. Flier, D. Becker, H. Kledges, and William McMillin, Green Bay; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stora, Mr. and Mrs. P. Walters, P. JURORS CONSIDER BROKEN NOSE SUIT

Mrs. Strutz' Plea for $1,200 Damages from John Romanesco Nearing End

The suit for $1,200 damages brought by Mrs. Lester J. Strutz, 512 W. Commercial-st., against John Romanesco, was sent to the jury in the upper branch of municipal court shortly before noon Friday but a verdict was not expected until late Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Strutz alleges her nose was broken in a dance hall brawl at Mackville on Dec. 25, 1927. She charges Romanesco struck her in a fight with her husband.

Romanesco claims Mrs. Strutz' nose was broken by Herman Winters, a deputy sheriff, who was on duty at the dance hall. Winters attempted to stop the fight, Romanesco said, and aimed a blow at the defendant and missed, striking Mrs. Strutz.

The suit opened before Judge Theodore Berg Thursday morning.

USE RADIO TALKS TO AID CHILD WELFARE

Madison—(P)—While Wisconsin is noted among states for its effort to safeguard the child in industry, the state has allowed the status of its thousands of socially dependent children to remain at about the level of the 1840's, in the opinion of Aubrey Williams, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work.

In an effort to inform the people of the state of the conditions confronting socially dependent children, the social work conference is sponsoring a series of radio talks on the subject that are broadcast every Friday evening at 7:10 from station WTMJ, Milwaukee.

The talks are given by C. W. Areson, secretary of the children's code committee of the state conference. The subjects for this and the three following Friday evenings are adoption and foster homes, illegitimacy, juvenile delinquency, and state and county organization.

BICYCLE CLUB FORMS RULES FOR "HIKES"

Rules regulating hikes by the bicycle club of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. were discussed at a meeting Thursday evening at the association building. The first hike will be at 10:30 Saturday morning to Neenah by way of the new lake road.

Officers of the club will be elected later. A chart will be placed in the boys' department on which will appear the names of those who have covered the largest number of miles.

Mrs. D. J. MacLennan returned Wednesday after spending two weeks in Chicago.

SNOWFALL MISSES US; FAIR WEATHER COMING

With the weather man promising fair and warmer weather for Friday night and Saturday Appleton and vicinity can be thankful that they missed the heavy snowfall in the southern part of the state during the last 24 hours.

The temperature early Friday morning was 29 degrees above zero, still a little below the freezing point. At noon Friday the mercury gradually rose to 38 degrees above zero. Since Monday the early morning temperature has increased 12 degrees and the noon temperatures about 10 degrees.

WIFE GETS DIVORCE FROM CRUEL HUSBAND

Mrs. Elma Ehmkke, 21, Embarras, was granted an absolute divorce from her husband, Alfred E. Ehmkke, 26, 1621 W. Rogers-ave., Appleton, by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court Friday morning. Mrs. Ehmkke was granted custody of the children and was awarded $30 a month alimony. The couple were married in Appleton on Sept. 13, 1927 and separated Feb. 10, 1928. Mrs. Ehmkke charged her husband beat her and failed to provide proper support.

INTERLAKE COMPANY GETS BUILDING PERMIT

A permit for the largest construction project in the city this year was granted Thursday by John Wolfand, building inspector, to the Interlake Pulp and Paper company. It involves a $220,000 addition to their plant. The addition will be three stories high, concrete construction. The paper company will use its own men to build the addition.

OUTAGAMIE-CO 1927 DELINQUENT TAXES LISTED AT $81,436

Amounts Reported by Town,
City and Village Treasurers
Exceeds That of 1926

Delinquent taxes returned by town, city and village treasurers of Outagamie-co for 1927 aggregated $81,436.29, compared with $77,598.17 delinquent in 1926 according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer.

The city of Appleton with $30,022.26 delinquent taxes, returned almost $7,000 more than the previous year when the delinquent list totaled $23,475.43.

The town of Bovina is second on the list with $12,388.83. In 1927 Bovina was second with $13,751.97 or more than $1,000 over this year. The city of Kaukauna reported $3,109.15 delinquent taxes, an increase of about $400 over 1926, and is third on the list. Kaukauna returned $7,758.91 in delinquent taxes in 1927.

The total tax levy for 1928 was $756,218.23 and the total collected, according to Miss Ziegenhagen, was $661,782. In 1927 the tax levy was $752,606.86 while the total collected was $715,108.17 or about $30,000 more than this year.

The tax levy this year was divided as follows: state tax, $32,263.42; county tax, $948.90; special bridge tax, $2,588.62; county superintendent of schools, $6,000; county school tax, $83,083.23; illegal tax, $1,112.79; mother's pension $34,000; special tax for school district loans, $18,608.08; state special tax for charitable institutions, $21,108.42; interest and retirement on bond issues, $228,200; two mill highway tax, $172,716.36; old age pension, $10,665.34.

Last Thursday was the final day for town, city and village treasurers to pay county taxes to Miss Ziegenhagen and only a few of the treasurers were delinquent, Miss Ziegenhagen said.

Following is a record of delinquent taxes returned by town, cities and villages of the county for 1927 and 1926:

Local Men Help Boost Racing Game In State

Keeping pace with Wisconsin sportsmen who wish to develop horse racing in this state, Charles Hopfensperger, local meat market proprietor, has purchased four thoroughbreds and has them stabled on the grounds of the Northeastern Wisconsin Fair association, using the track for training.

The animals are trotters and represent the best breeding to be found in the country. Among them are Short Direct, out of Braden Direct; Lady Lou, a two-year-old by Joseph Guy; Laura Cochato and Miss Appleton.

Other Appleton men who own horses quartered on the grounds are James De Baurer, owner of Dolly Volo, and Joseph Jones, owner of Noble Todd.

Mr. Hopfensperger's string of horses is housed in six box stalls in a room used as an office and sleeping quarters for the drivers. This room, with its furniture, draped windows and heating plant, is a model of comfort.

A sun porch, about ten feet wide, extending the length of the stables, into which the doors of the box stalls open, is used as a kitchen sitting room and parlor by the men and provides a space into which the horses may thrust their heads. The box stalls, office and sun porch are well aired and well lighted and are kept at a uniform temperature by the heating plant.

The Hopfensperger stables were opened the first of the year and are in charge of Al Malley, Appleton.

A movement is on foot to make Wisconsin the peer of Kentucky when it comes to horse racing. To do this, Badger horsemen propose to encourage the breeding of thoroughbred horses by offering big prizes for futurity or juvenile races. To win these races, the animal must be well bred, the breeding having as much to do with the victory as training and experience.

To induce horsemen to obtain the kind of breeding upon which success in uter competition depends, a stake of approximately $2,500, known as the O'Brien Juvenile Stake, has been raised by five fanciers of the state and will be offered to two-year-old, home-owned trotters in fall races this year. The race will be run on the grounds of the fair offering the most money to get it and Milwaukee already has bid $1,000 for the event.

The earliest experiment in forecasting with the aid of telegraphic reports were those of the Smithsonian institution in 1849.
